Island, Canada Linked

Canso Causeway Now Complete

PORT HASTINGS, N.S. (CP)—Ton after ton of earth crashing down from big diesel dump trucks finally licked the swirling Strait of Canso late Friday and Cape Breton found itself neatly hooked to the Nova Scotia mainland.

A mute crowd of about 50 people watched the clanking, mud-caked trucks drive the 4,200 foot causeway across the last few feet of tidal waters whose mounting force delayed the link-up.

WAITS IN RAIN

Among them was Lieutenant-Governor Alistair Fraser who stood patiently for hours in the rain and muck to witness completion of the 27-month-old project's major phase.

"It is a wonderful achievement," he said.

The Nova Scotia government expects the curving land bridge to be opened to road and rail traffic in early spring. A formal elaborate ceremony probably will be held then.

The lieutenant-governor said the undertaking would "prove inestimable value to the tourist trade of our province and the economic well-being of the province as a whole."

LEGENDS GONE

But to the 160,000 hardy Scots and French-descended inhabitants of Cape Breton it obliterated a host of legends flavored by a people proud of their island independence. And it tended to sour the brand of humor that produced tales like that of the old Highland lady who is said to have ended every bedtime prayer with thanks for the strait that protected her from the dubious influences of "foreigners"—anyone not from Cape Breton.

The causeway was begun in June, 1952. Into it went 10,000,000 tons of rock-fill from the side of nearby Porcupine Mountain.

BULLETINS

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Officials of Local 195, United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), said Friday the National Unemployment Insurance Commission has "practically become an instrument for management to break strikes."

* * *

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Canada Friday attacked as "wanton and reckless" Russian charges of United States aggression against Red China and said such charges should be rejected as "malicious concoctions."

* * *

MANILA (UP) — Eighteen persons were reported killed and 20 others injured late Friday in an explosion at a fireworks factory in Santa Maria, Bulacan province, 15 miles north of Manila.

* * *

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— The General Assembly of the United Nations Friday overwhelmingly condemned Red China's jailing of 11 American fliers as spies.

* * *

NELSON (CP) — Arnold Webster, leader of the opposition CCF party, said at a two-day meeting of the party here this week B.C.'s Social Credit government is revealing itself "as a Conservative organization with a front of progressives."

Victor Holds Cup—and Breath

Soccer can be a rewarding game, Len Chekwech finds as he is soundly kissed by Victoria High cheerleader Irene Foote. Lew led his high school team to a 4-0 win over Mount View High in the Colonist Cup final at Royal Athletic Park yesterday. He was leading scorer in the five-game series, with four goals.

Voters Go to Polls Today In Outside Municipalities

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

Residents of Esquimalt, Saanich and Central Saanich go to the polls today to select municipal representatives to serve on councils and police commissions.

Ratepayers of Greater Victoria municipalities will also be voting on the Greater Victoria school board's $3,129,000 school building referendum.

Fact that nine municipal seats have been filled by acclamation may indicate a light vote, but the referendum is expected to attract many voters to the polls.

Only municipality in which there will be a reeveship contest is Central Saanich.

All Oak Bay council and police commission seats were filled by acclamation and voters in that municipality will be going to the polls only to express their opinions on the school referendum.

No candidate filed nomination papers for the Oak Bay seat on the Greater Victoria School Board, District 61. The board is expected to reappoint Trustee W. H. Golby at a meeting next month. The trustee had planned to file papers but through business pressure missed his opportunity.

Saanich School District 63 will also be faced with the problem of appointing a trustee to fill a one-year vacancy on the board, since no one filed papers for the post left open by the retirement of G. L. Chatterton.

THREE SEATS

Running for the three council seats in Esquimalt are Clr. James Bryant, Benjamin Caley, Clr. J. E. Carey, Ralph Meakes and Clr. G. K. Sammon. Seeking the single police commission post are Clr. George Argyle and Frank Mitchell. Trustee R. H. Reeve was returned by acclamation for another two-year term as Esquimalt representative on the Greater Victoria school board.

Esquimalt polls, at the Municipal Hall and at 853 Craigflower Road, are open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., with Returning Officer James Elrick in charge.

In Saanich, Clr. George Austin, Clr. Robert Fleming, Harold Todd, R. J. Pringle, and Eugene J. Diespecker are running for three vacant seats on council. George Askey was re-elected by acclamation to the police commission. Mrs. W. W. McGill received an acclamation as Saanich trustee for School District 61. Reginald Sinkinson was named by acclamation as Saanich trustee for School District 63.

POLLS LISTED

There are 13 polling stations in Saanich at the following places: Cedar Hill School, Cedar Hill Cross Road; Lansdowne Junior High School; Tolmie School, Boleskine Road; Cloverdale School, Quadra Street; Gordon Head School, Tyndall Avenue; Cadboro Bay Scout Hall, Penryhn Street; Marigold Scout Hall, Marigold Road; 3890 Douglas Street; Royal Oak School, West Saanich Road; McMorran's Pavilion, West Saanich Road; Prospect Lake School, West Saanich Road; Tillicum School, Albina Street; St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Hall, Obed Avenue.

Returning officer is John Tribe. Polling stations will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

REEVE CONTEST

Central Saanich reeveship is being contested by Clr. Willard Michell and H. Rupert Brown. Running for the two council seats are John Windsor, Harry Peard and William Taylor. George Moody was elected by acclamation to the police commission. Mrs. Joyce McDonald received an acclamation as Central Saanich trustee in School District 63.

Central Saanich polling stations are located at the municipal office, Saanichton; Women's Institute Hall, Keating; and the Brentwood School. J. W. Ismay is returning officer.

There is only one polling station in Oak Bay, located at the municipal hall. Returning officer A. D. Findlay will be in charge of the school referendum vote.

Oak Bay posts, all filled by acclamation, are as follows: council, Clr. Patrick Birley, Clr. J. W. Maltby and Charles H. Mann; police commission, Thomas Vickers; school trustee, no nomination.

Results of city and View Royal voting on the school referendum will be announced for the first time tonight when results of the referendum ballot are tabulated in Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Chief's Critics Get Roasting In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police officers who publicly criticized orders of Chief Constable Walter Mulligan came in for a roasting at Friday's meeting of the Vancouver police commission.

Magistrate Oscar Orr said criticism amounted to insubordination, and Judge R. A. Sargent said "sniping in the newspapers has got to stop."

The rebukes were directed at Const. Dan Brown, secretary of the policemen's union, for his remarks in a newspaper that Tuesday's capture of convict Robert Bates was a sound argument for a return to two-man patrol cars.

Dads' Work Taxes Kids

PARIS (Reuters)—Financial Secretary Gilbert Jules complained to the senate Friday that the children of French income tax collectors are getting constantly beaten up by their schoolmates at some French schools.

Building in Esquimalt Rivalling Saanich Boom

Surge Since 1948 Adds 'Rich' Look

A $4,000,000 building boom which began in 1948 and shows no signs of abating is rapidly transforming Esquimalt from the "working man's town" of yesterday into a modern residential municipality.

In the first 11 months of 1954 more homes were built than during all of 1953, and Mr. Edgington said dwellings being completed should push the 1954 total to that of last year.

A large amount of space for homes and industries is still available in the municipality, and estimates for 1955 already include a figure of almost as many homes as have been constructed to date this year.

Most new structures since the peak year of 1948 have been homes, but Reeve A. C. Wurtele has indicated that 1955 may break all records with a boom in both home and business construction.

Building permit totals since the Second World War show that construction in 1948 soared to a record 237 items worth $814,175. Records were also set that year with 118 dwellings worth $630,200 and 119 miscellaneous structures.

WHOPPING TOTAL

Since January 1, 1948, said W. J. Edgington, municipal inspector, a whopping total of $4,162,581 worth of buildings has gone up in Esquimalt.

Total number of items was 1,129 and the breakdown, which shows 465 dwellings worth $2,786,720, puts an end to the theory that Esquimalt is simply a workers' area and shows a quiet but steady growth equal, in proportion, to the much-publicized boom in Saanich.

During the six-year period the number of miscellaneous buildings was 664, worth $1,395,861, less than the value of homes only because the category includes small additions, alterations, garages and carports as well as all types of industrial structures.

HOMES TOP LIST

Value of home construction has remained above that of other buildings except during two years, 1951 and 1953. The exceptions were due to the $370,000 Esquimalt High School in 1951 and the $250,000 Malkin warehouse last year.

But for the warehouse, the 1953 total of construction valued at $649,750 would have been surpassed this year.

Figures at November 30 showed 56 dwellings worth $400,500 other buildings valued at $129,805, for a total of 127 items worth $530,305.

STEADY EMPLOYMENT

Main reasons for the increase in number of residents in Esquimalt are the continuing number of new subdivisions and the steady improvement in public services.

Reeve Wurtele said development of 15 properties on Hadfield Avenue, 27 properties on Greenwood Avenue and 10 properties on Craigflower Road is "almost certain" next year.

But typical of the surprising capacity of the municipality to expand is the fact that at least 40 properties may also be developed, along Gosper Avenue, and there are "many other lots" scattered throughout the area.

Conclusion of the reeve is that fewer people are retiring to Esquimalt and more employees of such businesses as Yarrows Limited and more city dwellers are moving to Esquimalt.

CONTINUED SERVICE

He and Mr. Edgington stressed that the municipality must continue to provide services such as improved roads, curbs, gutters, sidewalks and the new local improvement sewer schemes.

As for business, "We have a very valuable property which people do not realize exists," said the reeve. "There is no more desirable property in Greater Victoria and firms which have located here have been given a big boost."

There are indications that industries will be started by at least three firms on Viewfield, Fairview and other roads, he said.

New Year Begun

Today The Daily Colonist begins a new year, its 97th of publication. Don Davidson, night composing room foreman, sets the new Folio number line in the front page form for this morning's paper. Don has worked for Victoria papers for 20 years; his father, James D. Davidson, has been with The Daily Colonist since 1923.

Vancouver Promised More Bank Arrests

VANCOUVER (UP) — Police Chief Walter Mulligan promised "more important arrests" in his fight against the underworld after four men were picked up in connection with recent bank robberies.

Daniel Haddon, 39, who had been living quietly in a city hotel, was picked up Thursday night after four days and nights of relentless shadowing. He was charged with the $10,000 robbery of a West Vancouver Royal Bank branch December 3.

A second man was arrested with Haddon, and police said they found $2,000 in the hotel room.

A third man was arrested in connection with the $1,500 hold-up of the downtown Bank of Montreal branch December 1, and in Los Angeles, police picked up Bruce Teetzel, a Canadian who confessed to the $3,000 robbery of a Bank of Nova Scotia branch November 8.

Eight holdups in the Vancouver area in the past six weeks netted gunmen $64,000. Largest was of the West Point Grey branch of the Bank of Montreal of $40,000 December 1.

"The arrests were the result of careful, patient detective work," Chief Mulligan said. "More important arrests are imminent."

Police added extra officers for bank duty last night as banks in the Vancouver area opened for the usual late Friday afternoon business period.

Into Drydock

Cutty Sark Sails Last Brief Trip

GREENWICH, Eng. (Reuters)—Sirens and whistles from modern ships saluted the 85-year-old Cutty Sark, only survivor of the China clippers, as she sailed down the Thames on her last—and shortest—voyage from London to the drydocks here.

Once the finest windjammer on the China tea and Australia wool runs, the 963-ton clipper now is only a shadow of her former self.

Her hull unpainted and dirty, her upper masts and yards removed to lighten her, she was gently nudged into the concrete drydock by three tugs. There she will spend the rest of her years as a memorial to Britain's merchant navy ships which once dominated the seas.

Aboard her on the farewell trip down river was Captain C. E. Irving who joined the Cutty Sark as an apprentice seaman in 1885.

The trim little clipper was launched in 1869 and made her maiden voyage from London to Shanghai in 1870.

'X' Marks The Ballot

An "X" must mark the ballot today in municipal elections.

Saanich returning officer John Tribe last night warned voters that all ballots must be marked only with an X. Any other mark will make the ballot invalid.

Winter Fury Again Whips South Europe

LONDON (AP)—Winter lashed parts of southern Europe with icy rain, wind and snow Friday as flooding rivers and biting temperatures plagued wide areas of the British Isles.

In Dublin, swamped earlier in the week with its worst flood in living memory, thousands of housewives, shopkeepers, and relief workers were busy with cleanup and rehabilitation chores.

Sections of France, Italy and Switzerland were in the path of the new winter fury. The Irish midlands, Wales and England had continuing flood troubles.

The liner Queen Mary landed 841 passengers at Southampton Friday after riding out hurricane force Atlantic squalls. Some of its portholes were broken and a section of the first class dining saloon was flooded.

Ghostly Fires Unsolved, Whole Family in Terror

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The RCMP said Friday it has completed an investigation of the ghostly fires of Flat Rock but the outbreaks that have terrified a family of five remain unexplained.

The first of the fires broke out about three weeks ago in the home of Mike Parsons at Flat Rock, 10 miles from here. Parsons and his wife reported a dictionary burst into flames for no apparent reason.

A few days later a sack of sugar caught fire. Then a box of religious literature stowed in an upstairs bureau. Next was a blaze under the eaves of the Parsons' home. A few days later the floor blazed up. The last outbreak demolished a doll.

Police said they finished their inquiry with no "definite proof" of the origin. Detectives poked through the old homestead in response to an appeal by the family, whose members said they were afraid to sleep at night.

The results of the inquiry have been turned over to the attorney-general's department.

The Parsons reported they had no trouble putting out any of the fires. Mrs. Parsons said the sack of sugar went out easiest of all.

"I just touched it with my hands. I tell you, and the fire went out," she said.

Boy Allergic to Trees, Santa, Candy

Christmas Just Makes Him Sick

SANTA FE, N.M. (UP)—The Yuletide season is just one big pain in the neck to 10-year-old Scott Garrison.

The red-haired fifth grader is allergic to Santa Claus, Christmas trees and Christmas candy and for him the holiday season is one of long and lonely hibernation.

Unlike other youngsters, a visit from Santa Claus makes him sick. Christmas trees and Christmas candy makes him violently ill.

"When Christmas time rolls around," his mother, Mrs. Cecil Garrison, said, the whole family just goes into hibernation. We even have to inspect people coming for a visit. If anyone happens to be wearing some evergreen as a corsage, it's just as bad as if they were carrying a tree."

As for Santa Claus, the rub there is the stored clothing worn by the old man with the whiskers. Scott is allergic to moth balls.

He is also allergic to Christmas candy and just the sight of it makes him sick.

Right now his mother is nursing him back to health after an accidental brush with a Christmas tree at school.

It was when he was four years old that doctors learned the reason the youngster became deathly ill right at Christmas time and since then his father, an instructor of instrumental music here, and his mother have planned his Christmas in advance so that he wouldn't be exposed.

But even that has worked only two years, last year and the year before. Usually it turns out like this year when Scott brushed the tree at school and had to go home.

"We always take him out of school when they start having trees because we don't want the other children to miss that joy because of Scott," his mother said. "But this year we were too late."

Scott has learned to accept his plight philosophically.

"I don't mind it much, except I always have to miss school right before Christmas," Scott said, gazing wistfully at a plastic white Christmas tree on the mantle—his substitute for a real one.

Even when the Christmas season passes, Scott can look forward to only a few months of normal living for when Easter approaches he has to go into hibernation again.

He's allergic to Easter eggs, too.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THERE'S nothing like starting the day in a proper mood of gloom and malice. Then nothing that happens later can depress you any further.

A Scottish friend of mine, whom I will not identify except to say that his name is Harry Young, usually starts my day at the office right with a cold shower of insults.

Sometimes I manage to insult him first and sometimes he catches me in a volley of abuse while I am still blinking the sleep out of my eyes.

Regardless of which one of us first opens fire, however, it ends in a draw.

"Well, you Langford catfish," says Harry.

"Well, you porridge-weevil," I reply. And so it goes.

When I spoke of starting the day with malice, I wasn't telling the strict truth, however. The encounters between Harry and me are as friendly as a snowball match (and a snowball match can get pretty darned hostile at times, believe me).

* * *

The whole thing reminds me of a phase of my boyhood when a schoolmate and I had frequent wrestling matches. We bore no ill-feeling, but somehow it became part of our code of behavior that we should attack one another on sight.

My performance was very poor in a serious fight, when I knew my opponent was angry, but in these friendly matches I did all right for a while.

Then I slowly realized that I was beginning to lose all the time. The reason was not hard to find. My sparring-partner had grown about 25 pounds heavier than me. I soon tired of coming home covered with bruises. More or less by mutual consent we abandoned our fights—just in time to save me from serious injury, I suppose.

I have lost touch with my schoolmate, but the idea of fighting with him now seems ludicrous, because he has grown to outweigh me by a good 50 pounds. In fact nearly all my old schoolmates now outweigh me by 50 pounds.

* * *

My verbal duals with Harry remind me of those long-ago fights at school.

Sometimes, however, people who overhear us slanging each other think we mean it. I detected one or two raised eyebrows when I referred to my friend Harry yesterday as a "haggis-worm." Such a phrase is a fairly mild piece of invective between us, but the uninitiated might not understand. I write this to explain that it is all in fun.

* * *

I really should not use the word "haggis" as an insult, because I nurse quite friendly feelings toward Scotland's national dish, in spite of all the cant about Robert Burns that I have been forced to endure along with it at Burns' night suppers which I attended as a newspaperman.

One time my wife and I actually bought a small haggis to eat at home, as an experiment. We were living in Vancouver at the time. After doing the shopping, we dropped into a downtown restaurant with some friends for a coffee.

In the street car about half way home,I suddenly remembered that I had left the haggis on a window ledge in the restaurant. "Give me a dime," I told my wife. "I'm going back for it."

"All that way?" she asked. "For a little wee haggis? Someone has probably taken it by now, anyway."

"But we bought it," I argued. "It's our haggis. Imagine how someone will feel when they open that parcel and see the haggis. They won't know what it is. They'll probably throw it in the garbage can. It seems unkind to leave that haggis just lying there, abandoned."

I felt responsible for that haggis. I thought of it as a creature, somehow.

So I took our last 20 cents (10 cents of mine, 10 cents of my wife's) and hopped another car back downtown. Oddly enough the haggis was still there on the window ledge.

I bore it home in triumph, feeling that I had done a kind deed in saving the haggis from alien hands. It tasted delicious, too.

Blood, Bullet Holes Disappearance Clues

CHAPLEAU, Ont. (CP) — A young teacher at a northern Ontario bush country school has disappeared under mysterious circumstances. Police Friday examined blood stains and bullet holes while checking the possibility he was slain.

Steve Klapouschak last September went to Dalton Mills, a whistle stop community between Chapleau and White River on the Canadian Pacific Railway, to teach at the 25-pupil school. He moved into living quarters behind the school and made friends in the settlement, many of whose residents are Indians.

An acquaintance from Missinabie, 14 miles west of Dalton Mills, went to visit him Sunday at the teacher's invitation. The friend could not find Klapouschak and notified police.

Insp. J. S. McBain of the Sudbury detachment of the Ontario provincial police said police found blood on the school steps and on the roadway in front of the little school. A window pane of the school was shattered and there was a bullet hole in the blackboard.

However, Inspector McBain said there were no signs of a struggle inside the school or in the living quarters. The inspector denied reports police were working on a theory someone shot the teacher [illegible] stood before the blackboard.

The teacher's suitcase containing clothing was found on the railway right-of-way five miles east of Dalton Mills. About two miles from the school searchers found a pair of boots tentatively identified as belonging to the man.

Inspector McBain said he was also seen after midnight December 3.

Large Choir-Orchestra Production To Be Presented in New Auditorium

The auditorium of the new Central Junior High School will be used for a large choir-and-orchestra production for the first time Thursday when the Victoria Choral Society presents Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Director Graham Steed said last night the auditorium seemed ideal for the presentation of the oratorio. It has excellent acoustics he said, room for an audience of 1,700 and there is good parking space, and the school is close to bus routes.

A choir of 100 voices and an orchestra of 35 musicians will be conducted by Mr. Steed. Role of the Prophet will be taken by Donald Garrard, a "Singing Stars" winner last year, who is flying from the East to appear here and in Vancouver.

Local soloists will be Margaret Dunn, soprano, heard several times before in productions of the choral society; Eleanor Duff, contralto, a newcomer from Scotland, and Edward Oldfield, tenor, a student at Victoria College.

Box office will open this morning at Eaton's.

Garden Notes

Pruned Apple Flourishing

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

You may remember the Wistaria I wrote about last Thursday—the one I gave away, believing it was dead, which turned out to be a strong and vigorous plant. One of my readers in Nanaimo has just told me about a similar experience, topping mine by a considerable margin. This one, though, is about an apple tree.

This gardener had a Jonathan apple in his backyard which had never done very well. Although planted seven years before, it had never borne more than 10 or a dozen apples in any year. This correspondent tells me that he was making some alterations in the lay-out of his garden, and the apple tree was in the way. As its performance had been so poor, he dug it up, with the help of an odd-job man who was assisting him.

SAWED INTO POLE

With the job completed, his helper asked if he could have the old tree for a clothes line post. This was granted, and the top and roots were sawed off, making a straight post which was set in the ground at the end of the garden and fitted with a pulley for the clothes line.

In the following spring, a few shoots appeared at the top. Two years later, the "post" had grown a beautiful head of branches, and was laden with a fine crop of apples.

I can believe anything now!

* * *

Field mice can be very troublesome in the garden.

They seem to have a special penchant for autumn-sown peas and broad beans, and on one occasion one of these little beasts got into a coldframe where I had started several hundred gladiolas bulblets. He didn't eat them—he simply dug them all up and piled them up neatly in the corner of the frame, mixing the varieties into a hopeless confusion.

A few of the common breakback traps set along the rows and baited with squash or marrow seeds will do their part in reducing the mouse population, and their is a poison called Warfarin which is most effective.

LEAVES REPELLENT

However, if you have an elderberry bush handy, the leaves and stems will provide a most effective repellent. Simply cut a few shoots from the bush and bury them in the ground near the spots you want to protect. The smell of the elderberry leaves and stems, which the mice detest, will keep them away.

Another bush which has its extra-curricular uses for the gardener is the common laurel. The leaves of the laurel, when crushed, give off a very small amount of poison gas which is, nevertheless, sufficient to clear a coldframe of pests. Put a handful of laurel leaves in an old saucer and bruise and crush them with a blunt stick or the back of a spoon. Place the saucer in the corner of the coldframe, and the fumes given off will clear the frame of insect invaders as effectively as the most expensive chemical compounds.

Crosby Suit Settled For $100,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $1,051,400 accident damage suit against Bing Crosby was settled yesterday for $100,000.

The settlement was announced in Superior Court by the singer's lawyers as the case was coming to trial. A series of conferences between lawyers for both sides resulted in this announced split: $67,500 to Frank H. Verdugo, 33, Los Angeles fireman driver of the second car in a collision with Crosby's $12,000 sports car; $27,500 to his wife, Lucy, 29; and $5,000 to her brother, Eulalio Perea, 26.

Ferry Ride Over

With the Pembroke, Ont., ferry immobilized by ice, one lone passenger, June MacDonald walks ashore. The ferry, which runs to Alumette Island, will remain where it is until the ice breaks up, probably in the spring. — (Central Canadian Press.)

ADDED TOUCH

Aspic is the name given the transparent jelly in which fish, meat and other foods are sometimes served.

Mailing Time Running Out

Time is running out for residents of Greater Victoria who plan to send Christmas cards, letters and parcels to destinations outside British Columbia.

R. F. Reid, postmaster, warned yesterday that the deadline for the United States, Newfoundland and the Maritime provinces has already passed, and the deadline for Ontario and Quebec is today.

Other dates are Monday for Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Tuesday for Alberta, Wednesday for B.C., and Friday for local delivery, and Mr. Reid said delivery before Christmas is doubtful if these mailing dates are not observed.

He urged careful packaging of all parcels with strong corrugated containers and strong twine. Excelsior or other shock-absorbent material should be used around fragile items, and all valuable parcels should be insured.

Citizens should place mailing and return addresses on parcels, and the post master repeated his warning that Christmas seals may be placed only on the reverse side of mail.

Only unsealed letters with five words or less can be carried by a two-cent postage.

Coin Said 'Strangle Her,' Says 'True Love' Killer

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — A stocky ex-carnival wrestler, the admitted slayer of his pretty young divorcee girl friend, blurted out a bizarre confession Friday that he strangled her because she was "too pious," and decided by a flip of a coin whether to choke her to death or "cut her apart."

"Heads, I'd strangle her; tails I'd cut her apart limb by limb," said Earl C. Runyon, 35, a dishwasher. "It came up heads."

Runyon told how he grabbed for the throat of Mrs. Violet Mae Williams, 26, and for nearly an hour alternately choked and revived her before she finally died.

He strangled her with hands across whose knuckles were tattooed the words "t-r-u-e" on one and "l-o-v-e" on the other.

Runyon confessed a few hours before the funeral for Mrs. Williams, the mother of two young children. They had been keeping company for several months.

The short, muscular dishwasher gave himself up last Saturday, the day of the slaying. But not until Friday did he change his story that jealousy was the motive. He has been held without charge.

Runyon said in the presence of a score of police and newspaper men and of prosecutor Arnold Zempel that he killed Mrs. Williams, while she cried and prayed for mercy, because she refused to join him in a scheme to steal welfare cheques from the mails.

"She was too pious," Runyon said. "She taught Sunday school sometimes, and tried to talk me out of the idea of stealing the cheques."

The federal government next year will start protecting sub-contractors against price-whittling tactics used by some contractors awarded public works contracts. The public works department announced yesterday that after January 1 contracting firms submitting tenders will be required to list names of all sub-contractors they plan to use on various phases of the job. The action is designed to prevent a "force down" of sub-contractors' prices.

R. M. No reports of violations had been reported to the Geneva conference powers, he said.

Another item of medical interest comes from London, where a gynaecologist says the use of thyroid hormone in preventing the recurrence of certain types of cancer in women has had good results. Writing in the British Medical Journal, Dr. Alfred Loeser says research on patients who had part of the thyroid gland removed shows that lack of thyroid hormone in a body favored tumor development.

Council Candidate Helps To Save Baby

A Victoria baby whose case points up the need for a full turnout at a special blood clinic of the Red Cross next week was reported "doing fine" last night, after a city aldermanic candidate saved its life.

Red Cross officials disclosed that Mrs. W. H. Wilson, defeated in Thursday's election, was called upon early Tuesday to assist in the case of an "Rh" baby, which needed an immediate transfusion to live.

Two bottles of the proper type of blood were needed and only one was available. The donor had to be a woman since a baby was involved.

Mrs. Wilson was "very tired" after the public meeting of all election candidates, but because she was one of the few registered blood donors in Greater Victoria with O group, Rh negative blood, she answered the call and the baby was saved.

To avoid such emergencies in the future, a clinic will be held from 1.30 to 4.30 p.m. and 7 to 9.30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street, and will move to the Legislative Buildings Thursday.

Slogan is "Make This Your Christmas Gift" and the goal is 1,200 gifts.

Fifty members of the Gyro Club and 50 Seventh-Day Adventist Church members will attend Monday.

A Balanced Decision

THE three out of ten electors who did not go to the polls in Victoria on Thursday in the city election gave a worthwhile, balanced decision. They chose business ability, experience in office, firmness in character and the open-face way of conducting public affairs. That is a hopeful augury for the future.

What was done with the schools referendum will not be known until all municipal areas affected have been polled. One must approve of that course as being the fairest way to secure an unbiased verdict. But why did nearly seven out of ten city voters pass up this opportunity to express their will?

Alderman Robert Macmillan, a young and progressive voice in the civic administration, achieved a notable success in his return at the head of the aldermanic poll. The addition of Mr. Austin Curtis to the council is an acquisition of unquestionable strength. Alderman Arthur Dowell retained his seat with a comfortable margin in hand. Former Alderman Donald Smith, who last year cut out from the council to challenge the chief magistracy, was returned to his former berth with considerable backing. The defeat of Mrs. Lily Wilson and Miss Jane Hall for aldermanic office, in spite of fine first runs, was not reflected in the School Board vote where Mrs. D. P. W. Maunsell was re-elected at the top of the poll; with Walter Thomson also elected by a decisive margin. Police Commissioner Gordon Carter walked away with his contest.

On sum, while there may be some disappointment among candidates making a brave first showing without securing election, the electors have given a workable result and one of much importance to the handling of city affairs. There remains the inexplicable apathy of those who will not vote, and a present-day tendency to enlarge the ballot paper by some nominations which have very little if any chance of success. There is probably no cure for the non-voter except the improvement of his understanding in the fullness of time.

The frivolous or hopeless nomination can be stopped. The City should consider the introduction of a nomination fee, with forfeiture of deposits where candidates fail to secure a reasonable percentage of the vote cast for the winning aspirants. That is the system used in federal elections, where it has worked well. The forfeiture device was also used by the province for many years, until it was removed—precipitately as results have turned out. But, conceding the right of any qualified individual to stand for public office, it remains anomalous that one may repeatedly do so without any prospect of public support.

'Economic Suicide'

WITH reference to the Dominion government's 80,000,000-pound stock of surplus butter, The Edmonton Journal this week published a comment which should make Agriculture Minister Gardiner sit up and take notice. It was this: "The long-term use of a federal floor price under butter is economic suicide. We simply cannot afford to carry on blind devotion to a policy which is slowly washing away the very ground beneath our feet." The striking feature of this statement is not so much what it contained as who made it. The author was none other than Mr. G. M. Carlyle, president of the National Dairy Council of Canada.

So far as his butter policy is concerned Mr. Gardiner has had few supporters among Canadian consumers, caught between taxes and high retail prices in order that the butter industry may be subsidized—though the government calls its juggling with prices by another name. Now it looks as if the minister is losing friends even among the dairymen, whom the price support program was designed to favor.

Not long ago warnings of this sort from a spokesman for the dairy industry would have been branded as heresy. Now a glimmer of sense has begun to appear. Not even the industry can continue indefinitely to ignore statistics showing a decline in consumption of butter too highly priced, coupled with an increase in production encouraged by the assurance that however much over-production may run to the government will buy it all, with tax money. The resultant 80,000,000-pound surplus, with no buyers in sight anywhere at the currently pegged price, confronts the government with the folly of its paternalism.

With the disillusioned dairymen now turning against him, Mr. Gardiner will have a hard time defending his butter policy when Parliament meets again next month.

Learning Both Sides

UNLESS he is extremely partisan in outlook, in which case his conscience is easily appeased, an MP at Ottawa must frequently be tugged two ways. He is elected as a member of the national Parliament whose duty it is to take the national view, yet he is also elected as the representative of a particular province with the obligation of safeguarding that province's interests. This dual responsibility is not always reconciliable except by good will and compromise, and a constant sense of fair play. At least it should behoove every MP however to keep himself posted as to the provincial side of any question that provokes disagreement or discussion. Sitting as he is in the House of Commons he will hear the federal side at first hand.

Mr. Harold Winch, CCF member of Parliament for Vancouver East, is apparently one MP who regards his duty to his province as being of importance. He has just called on the provincial government to learn its point of view in connection with such matters as the proposed Kaiser dam, the Marpole bridge, federal-provincial pensions, etc., in order to be in a position to answer the purely federal side of these problems. With the information willingly given to him by the cabinet ministers concerned he is now equipped, he says, to evaluate the strength of B.C.'s argument in any dispute that may arise.

Mr. Winch is not creating precedent; other MP's from B.C. in the past have taken pains to find out where their province stood in federal-provincial matters. The habit is not universal, however. Some MPs never confer sympathetically with provincial regimes unless the latter are of the same political stripe as themselves. In the result they are ill prepared when this is not so to present the case of their province in debate with the national government's argument. They thus abdicate one half of the dual obligation that is theirs when elected to the House of Commons. This is not to say that an MP should willy-nilly support a provincial case against a federal case in any point at issue, but that he should be aware of both sides to the question. Thereafter, if he can keep free of overwhelming partisan influence, he will at least be in a position to apply his own considered judgment to a dispute.

Interpreting the News

They Don't Believe It

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

THE West German Bundesrat and the German ambassador to the United States indicate they don't believe the Russian threat that formation of Western European Union will kill all chances for all-German reunion.

* * *

Russia emphasized this threat in notes to the Western powers only a few hours before the Bundesrat, upper house of parliament, approved and sent to the lower house the proposals for rearmament and membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The action was not final although the smallest government margin was 26 to 9.

Nevertheless, the action had not been stayed by Russia's latest threat.

* * *

In a speech at Dallas, Ambassador Heinz Krekeler, said ratification of WEU would provide a new basis for approaching reunification.

Krekeler said the Germans were approaching rearmament very reluctantly.

He said they would have much preferred the European Defense Community idea of a unified European army than the national army to be set up under WEU.

* * *

Germany was not the only objective of the latest Russian threat. France was reminded of her own fears about a rejuvenated Germany. But she was going right ahead with ratification plans.

The Soviet note probably scuttled its own desired effect in France by adding a long tirade charging that France is not sincere in her search for peace.

Does one suppose the Soviet officials ever ponder over the fact that everything they say to the West has to be drawn up in triplicate like this note to France, the United States and Britain, and stop to think what they are up against?

By FRANK KELLEY

FOR anyone interested in the physical makeup of this province, so different topographically from its sister provinces of Canada, there is a gusher of information in a 33-page publication entitled "Surveys and Mapping in British Columbia Resources Development." This publication supplemented the paper presented by Surveyor-General Andrews at the seventh British Columbia Natural Resources Conference held earlier this year in the Hotel Empress.

From its opening paragraph, in which the case for "surveys and more surveys" is stressed, to the four appended maps illustrating topographical and triangulation controls as practiced provincially, anyone with even a limited knowledge of British Columbia's size and physical features can readily get a refresher course by taking time out to digest what the Surveyor-General states concerning the advantages of government possessing an intelligent picture of any area which might suddenly be considered by industrialists as a site for a worthwhile industry and mean great things in helping promote a highly stable economy for the benefit of the domain that is British Columbia.

* * *

Studying his presentation of logical reasoning in such an all-important matter, one can imagine Surveyor-General Andrews was not bound by an eight-hour day when he undertook a more or less prodigious research job, obviously requiring patience. It includes—in addition to the case for immediate needs of government department heads having to deal with urgent applications involving the alienation of natural resources—frequent references to the romantic as well as the historic story of the area since Captain James Cook made a chart of Friendly Cove, Nootka Sound, in 1787, down to the present time. In the course of it we are told of maps made by the fur traders as well as those left by colonial and pre-Confederation surveyors; while the author also recalls the record of sundry B.C. land surveyors since they went afield with their instruments in 1887 to mark the boundaries of the Dominion railway belt.

* * *

In an appended graph, the author notes that British Columbia has budgeted amounts annually for surveys and mapping, the percentage of the whole for these services between 1905-54 having a high of 8 per cent at the time of the 1910 land boom. Since then the amount has steadily declined. In 1920 it was 2 per cent and less than 1 per cent since. This, in the author's considered opinion, is not as it should be.

"As long as key map of standard mapping includes blank grids we should prosecute basic surveys until it hurts and really hurts," he writes. "The simple fact that we are ignorant of the detail of any part of B.C. is simple justification for getting it surveyed and mapped as soon as possible. The full benefit of the effort will accrue only if it is done before specific stimulus to exploitation of the ground presents itself."

* * *

The argument seems logical as he cites the value of accrued and available knowledge when applications are made for industrial sites like Kitimat and Cassiar Asbestos development; and what it would have meant in determining at short notice the Taku-Atlin power project had the real facts of the picture been in possession of department heads dealing with the application. Details of all the provincial terrain, mapped by B.C. land surveyors, would also be of great value in preliminary bargaining for forest management licenses, Mr. Andrews emphasizes.

Reports from Ottawa

SEVEN years ago, at the height of the post-war shipping boom, there were 172 dry-cargo vessels in our merchant navy, not counting coastal and lake ships. Today there are 20.

In November alone six ships left Canadian registry. Three were sold abroad and three others were transferred to British registry, the haven of scores of former Canadian flag ships, to reduce their operating costs. Thus in the 30 days that November hath, liquidation of the merchant navy came appreciably closer.

* * *

What we have left is mainly a mixture of private industrial carriers, and ships the government owns through the CNR. The largest unit is the CNS fleet of eight ships. The parent CNR operates a ship in Newfoundland coastal service. Three Dominion Steel & Coal ships carry iron ore from Newfoundland to Nova Scotia. The Mersey Paper Company has four ships. There's a freighter owned by an Italian-controlled Canadian company and manned by Italians which never puts into Canadian ports. There are three small war reparations ships, two owned by Clarke Steamships and one by the CNR, which divide their time between the coastal trade and deep sea tramping. And, to complete the record, there are 10 tankers owned by oil companies.

Such is Canada's merchant navy as construction starts on the St. Lawrence Seaway, the project which is to launch a new era in water transportation.

* * *

You'll soon be hearing more about the plight of the merchant navy, when the shipowners renew their plea for government subsidization of a 50-ship fleet. They were turned down last year, but since then conditions have changed, and not for the better.

In their new bid, the owners have the support of the Canadian Maritime Commission, which favors a fleet of 30 to 35 dry-cargo ships. Since each ship would need an operating subsidy of $100,000 a year, the amount of money at issue is $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. By contrast, the U.S. government is spending $400,000,000 this year to subsidize American shipping and shipbuilding.

Also by contrast, the Canadian government spent $33,000,000 two years ago to support farm and fish prices. It spends about $30,000,000 a year on freight rate subsidies, $25,000,000 a year for aid to Asia, and about $15,000,000 a year to subsidize uneconomical gold mines.

* * *

The main reasons Canada needs its its own merchant marine are (1) to prevent foreign shipping from discriminating against Canadian cargoes in peacetime, and (2) to ensure that we'll have bottoms for military transport and essential cargoes in wartime.

The reason the industry can't make ends meet without government aid is that Canadian ships have to pay Canadian wages. The wage bill of a 10,000-ton British ship is $155 a day; on a Canadian ship it's $380 a day. Thus when competition for cargoes is keen and ocean rates tumble, Canadian ships lose money.

* * *

The owners argue that if it's in the national interest to have a merchant navy, the taxpayers should make up its losses. And with Canadian ships a rarer sight on the seven seas than at any time since the First World War, it's obvious that further government inaction like that of a year ago will just about end Canada's last lingering pretension as a maritime power.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

MANY of my relatives are farmers still, though most of the tribe have slipped away into the city and town to live by their wits. One of the farmer cousins was visiting the house the other night when it snowed. The dishes were done, the TV was on, but I had to go out with the snow shovel and clear the front walk.

The farmer offered to come and do it, even in his city clothes. But we have only the one shovel. So he put his hat on and came and stood on the front step to keep me company.

"Hey, just a minute," he protested, as I started the snow flying. "What's the hurry?"

I rested on my shovel.

"Well, I want to get the job done," I suggested.

* * *

"Now, look," said my cousin, "a job is a job. That isn't the way to shovel snow. My gosh, man, you'll wear yourself out. Here, give me the shovel . . ."

I declined, and bent to the task again, taking it a little more deliberately.

"The trouble with you city people," he reflected, muffler on neck, hands in pockets, "is that you don't understand a job is a job. It deserves to be done. But it deserves more than that. It deserves a little dignity. It shouldn't be treated as if it was hateful, as if there were no pleasure in it."

"You mean," I rested, "that shoveling snow should be a pleasure?"

"Well," said my cousin, puzzled, "there ought to be a pleasure in all jobs. If there isn't, can you imagine how much work would be done in this world? I'm thinking, of course, of forking out the stable, or milking the cows on a cold night. But in the city there must be no end of jobs that, if you didn't take some pleasure out of them . . ."

* * *

I went slower. I saved my wind and my muscles. I shoved the shovel, lifted the snow, emptied the shovel easily. I figured there was no hurry. It was pleasant in the snowy night. I had a long way to go, down the walk, along the front. What was the hurry? The snow falls. It has got to be moved. A job is a job. My cousin came down and tried to take the shovel. I refused. He stood talking about how you go at each job, pleasantly, sparing yourself, taking it easy, finding pleasure in doing it, and in feeling it done.

The best snow job I've done in years.

Under the Dome

Colonist Legislative Reporter

PREMIER W. A. C. Bennett and the press gallery now meet for bi-weekly press conferences.

On Mondays and Thursdays representatives of the daily press are given a half-hour audience with the man who holds the answers to a lot of important questions.

He cordially listens to the questions, but does not always give the answers. This is his right. The questions are usually fair, but sometimes loaded.

* * *

The premier seems to enjoy his little grilling. He is alert, always smiling, quick on the trigger if not always right on the target. He is sometimes evasive, sometimes non-committal, but frequently informative. When the going gets tough he throws back his head and laughs. He is hard to corner but is always full of high spirits and joviality.

The premier is head of the elected government and therefore top representative of the people who elected it. The press tries to represent the people another way, to find out for them how their government is carrying out its mandate.

So in a sense one representative of the public is asking questions of another. One does things (or does not do things) for the people of the province; the other tries to find out about them for the public's information.

* * *

Premier Bennett is not above theatrics to drive home a point.

Seated comfortably in his office this week, one member of the press gallery asked him what the position was of former finance minister Einer Gunderson. The question was raised originally by Liberal leader Arthur Laing in a letter to the premier.

Mr. Laing suggested that Mr. Gunderson, though defeated in two elections, was "de facto minister of finance" for the Social Credit government although the portfolio is carried officially by the premier himself.

The premier explained quietly that Mr. Gunderson works for the government as a director of the PGE at $100 a month and at present is doing no other work for the government.

One reporter suggested that perhaps some of the "sinister interpretations" of his position, as Mr. Laing called them, arose from Mr. Gunderson's occupation of the minister of finance's old office in the legislative buildings.

"Show me where that office is," said the premier, rising to his feet. The entire press gallery then was led out of his office, down the corridors, under the dome, past the treasury department to the door of the former finance minister's office.

"Where is it?" he said, obviously enjoying the show.

To the reporter's chagrin, the sign "Minister of Finance" had mysteriously vanished from the door and in its place was the single word "Secretary."

* * *

The premier is adept, too, at the ring-around-the-roses kind of question and answer game.

Asked last week about a federal government suggestion of increased provincial Trans-Canada Highway appropriations to help relieve unemployment, he said that this could be done only if the federal government would help with other highways.

Asked where the federal government would get the money for such increased aid, the premier said they had "plenty of revenue."

When it was suggested that Ottawa expects a deficit this year, the premier said "what they need is a change of government."

Around, finally, to his favorite topic, the premier said that if Social Credit was in Ottawa it would reduce taxes (not by cutting armaments, either) as it had done in B.C.

When it was pointed out that some authorities believed B.C. had in fact suffered a net tax increase, not a reduction, the premier said this was "not true at all."

He said there had been a tax cut for the individual and to Social Credit "the individual is the important thing."

A shift in the tax load to business? Certainly not, said the premier; just more revenue from natural resources, more tax on invested capital from outside the province.

Then smiling and bubbling over with good spirits, the premier bid the exhausted press a very good day.

With the Classics

One lesson, Nature, let me learn of thee,
One lesson which in every wind is blown,
One lesson of two duties kept at one,
Though the loud world proclaim their enmity,
Of toil unsevered from tranquility,
Of labor, that in lasting fruit outgrows,
Far noisier schemes, accomplished in repose,
Too great for haste, too high for rivalry!

Drama Award Given

H. S. Hurn, former director of the provincial government's community drama branch, has been honored with the Canadian Drama Award for 1954.

Mr. Hurn, formerly of Victoria, was cited for his contribution to community drama, [illegible] among various organized groups throughout B.C. during the last 10 years.

The drama branch which Mr. Hurn headed was eliminated by the Social Credit government. Mr. Hurn is now a school Inspector at Nelson.

Award winners in other provinces were Miss Esther Nelson, Edmonton; Mrs. Peggy Green, Winnipeg; Charles Southgate, Ottawa; Mrs. Eve Pennington, Quebec City; Jean Gascon, Montreal; and Frederick W. Segee, Fredericton, N.B.

Huck To Head Civil Servants

Larry Huck, of the attorney-general's department, has been elected president of the Victoria branch of the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

In an election that wasn't decided until the last few ballots were counted, he defeated John A. Sargent, of the public works department.

Mr. Huck received 851 votes, and Mr. Sargent 818 votes.

The new president, succeeding Gordon Moore, will be installed Monday evening at a branch meeting in the Douglas Building cafeteria.

Automobile Group, Finance Minister Differ on Promise

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Automobile Association and Finance Minister Harris disagreed Friday as to the meaning of remarks the minister made when the association appealed for removal of the $82,000,000-a-year excise tax on new automobiles.

R. J. Hastings of Vancouver, association vice-president, quoted Mr. Harris as expressing hope he may relieve taxpayers of some of the tax load, but Mr. Harris said he did not go that far.

Mr. Hastings was one of a five-man delegation conferring with the minister on the 15-per-cent excise tax. He said the 500,000-member association plans "extensive action" if there is no relief in the next budget.

Traditionally the finance minister does not disclose budgetary plans in advance.

However, Mr. Hastings said: "We are hopeful. We feel quite confident that something will be done. That is the impression we got after talking to Mr. Harris."

Mr. Harris said he received the delegation and promised to give the association's brief careful consideration, but he denied that he gave them any promise or hope of relief.

CALLED BACK

Mr. Hastings insisted that Mr. Harris did. He said Mr. Harris called him back as he was leaving and asked him to be seated again, saying he would study the issue and that "we hope to come up with an answer to this problem and give you some relief."

He said all five officials in the delegation heard the encouraging remark. Mr. Hastings also quoted Mr. Harris as saying that if something is to be done about the car tax situation, it will have to be considered now while estimates for next year's budget are being developed.

Bookmobile Popular

Library's Circulation Growing

Despite the fuss about "book-burning," circulation of books in the Victoria Public Library has increased by more than 16,000 in the last 11 months.

Librarian John Lort reported to the library board yesterday that 1954 circulation, to the end of November, was 407,753, compared with 391,419 for the same period in 1953.

Nearly 18,000 books were distributed by the library's new bookmobile, which has been in operation only eight months.

The bookmobile is proving popular with youngsters as well as adults in suburban areas. Mr. Lort said children are now restricted to one book at a time from the bookmobile collection, "instead of the three they would like."

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, a member of the board, said circulation in the children's department "could be increased 100 per cent if we had more books and more staff."

Greater Victoria's juvenile population is growing faster than the library's stock of children's books, he said.

Board chairman J. E. Neely said this was the result not of a lack of money, but of the fact that "children's books have been hard to get."

The board gave its hearty approval to a "Friends of the Library" group to be formed by Roger J. Bishop.

Mr. Bishop, replying to a letter from the board, said the aims and objects of the group [illegible] but that it would "work in of its help and support.

every way for the maintenance and increase of library facilities and services."

He said the group would hope to see the "present loose arrangement among the municipalities" for support of the library converted into a "permanent and indissoluble agreement for the establishment of a regional library."

The board agreed Mr. Bishop

Toronto 'Scandal' Hotel Suite Not Paid For with City Funds

TORONTO (CP)—The hotel suite that became a major civic scandal was not paid for by the City of Toronto, former mayor Allan A. Lamport said Friday.

Suite 1735 at the Royal York Hotel became an election issue after opponents of Mayor Leslie Saunders said it was headquarters for an exclusive clique which ran the city. Mayor Saunders denied the charge.

SUPPLIED BY HOTEL

After an examination by reporters Thursday night of civic books dealing with entertainment expenses which disclosed $47,613 spent during the last 2½ years, Mr. Lamport said Friday the suite itself was supplied for his use by the hotel management.

The reporters' inquiry showed more than $11,000 of the total was personally authorized by Mr. Lamport. It was listed among items headed "entertainment of the mayor's visitors . . ."

Mayor Saunders and City Clerk George Weale both refused access to the books. The Ontario Municipal Act provides any person shall have access to such books at any reasonable hour.

A Telegram reporter, Allan Kent, wrote a letter to the board demanding access on this basis. The board agreed, after a hot-tempered debate, to allow one man from each of the three Toronto papers to examine the expenditures.

The accounts mostly showed items for banquets and civic entertainments but included also were entries from 50 cents to $10 for tips, $2.50 for a quart of lemon juice and major items for special purchases which were later said to include liquor.

The reporters found no items personally authorized by Mr. Saunders since he was appointed mayor when Mr. Lamport became a Toronto Transit commissioner.

The published accounts brought demands for a full explanation by Mr. Lamport or his resignation as a TTC commissioner. He cannot be fired from the post by either the city government or Metropolitan Toronto council, master government for the metropolitan area. His term of office runs to December 31, 1958.

Mr. Lamport said he is not ashamed of his entertainment expenditures and that they compare favorably with those of two previous mayors, Hiram McCallum and Robert Saunders.

Board of control has ordered figures for the time they served to be made available for public comparison. City Clerk Weale said the books will be available to the press "first thing Monday."

The former mayor said suite 1735 was not the only one used by him and other members of council. He said the suite was maintained by himself—"and it's nobody's business anyway."

STRONG ARGUMENT

Mr. Lamport said the scandal of the suite created a strong argument for taking the Grey Cup football final to Vancouver next year "where hospitality is never restrained." He added:

"If this happens, certain individuals who have stirred up this trouble will have to answer for it."

Storm Blows Just Right For Lonely U.K. Fliers

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—Fliers at a British air base far out in the back woods jungles of North Malaya changed their minds about tropical rainstorms — the curse of Far East service—when one blew in Hollywood screen star Ava Gardner Thursday night.

Dodging the storm, a plane heading for Singapore touched down at lonely Butterworth Field where several hundred British air force men are stationed.

Airmen stood goggle-eyed as Ava stepped down. But not for long. They quickly organized the biggest party the field mess had seen for years.

Ava danced barefooted with the boys most of the night in the officers' mess.

The only disgruntled note came from the corporals: "The officers kept them to themselves," said one.

Relief Asked On Milk

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four B.C. milk distributors, who say they lose $20,000 a month because they pay farmers the legal price for milk, Friday asked the Clyne Royal Commission for some temporary relief.

John G. Gould, representing the four dairy companies, told Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne other distributors were paying producers 40 cents less than the fixed $5.03 for 100 pounds of 3.5 per cent butterfat milk for the fluid market. Mr. Gould described the situation as grossly unequal.

'Bachelor of Year'

Sheikh Loses Post, Sent from Country

CAIRO (Reuters)—The millionaire Sheikh Ezzat Jaffar, who tried to woo ex-queen Narriman of Egypt earlier this year, has been dismissed from his post as chief of the royal cabinet and expelled from the sheikdom of Kuwait, it was reported here Friday.

Jaffar, 38, tall, bearded and handsome sheikh dubbed the "bachelor of the year," had received marriage offers from many parts of the world—including Canada—since he announced last month that he would not marry Narriman.

In government service in oil-rich Kuwait on the Persian gulf for 20 years, the emir of Kuwait is reported to have dismissed him for interfering in "financial" matters connected with the security of the state."

Invited to Talks

Home Burns At Lantzville

NANAIMO—Fire gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ainsley of Lantzville yesterday afternoon. The house is a complete loss.

Neighbors helped the family salvage a few odd belongings, but practically all the Ainsley's possessions went up in flames. Lantzville has no organized fire protection service at present and once the fire took hold it was impossible to save the structure.

Mr. and Mrs. Ainsley had only recently acquired the home but had carried out extensive repairs and renovations since. The house was covered by insurance.

The couple, who lived alone since their family grew up, are staying with friends at Lantzville.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Body of Conrad Hagan, 78, hand logger who was found dead at Forward Bay Thursday, was brought here yesterday morning.

Ald. J. W. Watson, who received 185 votes, and Ald. Gordon Kerton, who polled 144, were re-elected together with a newcomer Thomas Armstrong, 141. Ald. Thomas Conrad, who polled 123 votes, was defeated.

More Employed at Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Unemployment is at about the same level as this time last year, but there are more people working in the area, William J. Allan, National Employment Service manager here, said yesterday.

Some of the increase in employment is due to the enlarged logging crews working on the west coast of the Island, he said.

Only recent layoff in the Alberni Valley is in the R. B. McLean logging operations, with some 15 men registered for unemployment insurance benefits.

There are no large construction jobs in progress in the district, and building is slackening off. Port Alberni Home Builders have started construction of warehouses for Stewart and Hudson Ltd. with a small crew employed.

A number of married women have their names listed for work during the holiday season. Six extra mail carriers and 10 additional loside workers will be needed for the Christmas rush by the post office. Most of these have already been selected.

NANAIMO — Driver of a new car which had a faulty speedometer was fined $10 and costs for speeding yesterday, but was told the car company should pay the fine.

John Sawyer was fined for speeding in the Nanoose area. A police check showed his car's speedometer was about 13 miles an hour out.

"The company you bought it from should pay the fine and the cost of adjusting," commented Magistrate Lionel Beevor Potts.

PORT ALBERNI—Bert McIntosh, an employee of Pitts Trucking Company, is in good condition in West Coast General Hospital after being struck by a falling slingload of plywood cores.

The accident, which occured at Alberni Plywoods, caused Mr. McIntosh to break his leg. An official of the plywood firm said the accident would not affect the plant's accident-free record as it did not involve an employee of the firm.

PARKSVILLE — Plan to establish a "tender" for Nanaimo branch of the Sea Cadet Corps met with enthusiastic support from parents and members of organizations here this week.

LADYSMITH—City welfare fund now stands at $525, but another $600 is needed if the city is to meet the objective of $1,200.

The money is needed to provide extra gifts for senior citizens. While there is a backlog of funds in reserve, these must be used to meet social emergencies during the year and it is essential that subscriptions be kept up each year.

RCMP May Quit after By-Law Defeat

Can't Afford Own Police, Declares Nanaimo Mayor

Special to The Colonist

NANAIMO—It is financially impossible for this city to provide its own police force, Mayor George Muir said when commenting on the defeat of the police station-fire hall by-law yesterday.

Fears that the RCMP will stop policing the city have been voiced since the $247,000 by-law met defeat at the hands of the voters Thursday for the second time in six months.

"I'm very unhappy that the by-law was lost," said Mayor Muir. "If we are forced to provide our own force, ratepayers will really know the meaning of taxation."

He said it was definite the people did not want a combined police station and fire hall.

OTHER CHOICES

It would be left to the incoming council to decide whether they wanted a fire hall or a police station. When the decision has been made, the question will be put to the voters again.

Ald. Mrs. Gertrude Hall said the result was a disappointment, "but not unexpected."

Mrs. Hall, who had repeatedly sought to have the voting on the by-law at another time, said she would continue to work to find something the ratepayers would approve.

Mrs. Hall was re-elected to council at Thursday's polls.

"NO CONFIDENCE"

Former Ald. Elsie Hall, who did not stand for re-election, said the vote was a clear indication that the people no longer had confidence in their council.

"I'm very glad I'm not in office again this year," she said.

Ald. George Bryce, who led Thursday's polls, said it was the democratic right of the people to say what they wanted.

"They have said'" he added.

Thursday 1,536 ratepayers registered their opposition to the by-law and 1,121 were in favor. Total vote was 2,816. When the by-law was first presented last June, before being trimmed close to $70,000, 1,553 residents voted against the scheme and 913 for it. Total vote then was 2,495.

A 60 per cent majority was needed for the by-law to pass.

GAS APPROVED

Ratepayers did give their stamp of approval on Thursday to the gas franchise by-law, however.

Nanaimo MLA Dr. Larry Giovando is president of a newly-formed company that will bring propane gas here from California. The company will soon make a survey preparatory to starting the project.

Other officers of the Nanaimo Gas Company are Earl Fletcher, former owner of Fletcher's music shop in Victoria, who is vice-president; Mavir Lavery of Nanaimo is secretary-treasurer and directors are Lloyd Wallace and Mrs. Fan Rock.

FINAL FIGURES

Final figures for candidates in the aldermanic and parks board elections Thursday are:

Aldermen (three vacancies)—Ald. George Bryce, 1,853; John G. Williams, 1,783; Ald. Gertrude L. Hall, 1,638 (all elected); John K. Cook, 1,497; and Beryl M. Wheeldon, 400.

Parks board (two vacancies)—Edward Blackburn, 1,989; John Charles McGregor, 1,835 (both re-elected); Earl A. Bamford, 1,591; and Kenneth D. Alexander, 1,501.

Sideswipe Reversed

White Lie Boomerangs

NANAIMO — The little white lie William Tembey told his wife the other day boomeranged and cost him $50 yesterday.

Tembey arrived home with his car damaged. He told his wife that it had been sideswiped while parked outside a hotel. Mrs. Tembey immediately called the police to report the incident.

Police investigation showed the car had sideswiped a telephone pole on the wrong side of the road and Mr. Tembey admitted he had fallen asleep at the wheel.

Tembey was fined $50 and had his license canceled for a month when he pleaded guilty to dangerous driving yesterday.

Man's Body Found On Cortez Island

CAMPBELL RIVER—Body of a man believed to be from the ill-fated tug Teeshoe, sunk by an Italian freighter last Sunday, has been found on a beach at Cortez Island.

The body, which was taken to Powell River, has not yet been identified.

Three men were drowned in the icy waters when the ship rose on a swell and crushed the tiny tug. Fred Ilott, 12, son of the tug's skipper, George W. Ilott, was the only survivor.

The RCMP patrol boat also found a life ring from the tug floating in the water off Turn Point, Cortez Island.

Charles Savage was elected president of the Victoria Gizeh Shrine Band last night and James M. Miller, bandmaster for 32 years, was re-appointed.

Other officers chosen were Ted Porter, vice-president; L. H. Rawlings, secretary-manager; Dr. George H. Green, assistant bandmaster; Wilson Gouge, band sergeant; W. J. W. Wilson, L. Stevens, J. Youth Leader Sent to Prison

COLOGNE, Germany (Reuters)—Peter Wegener, self-appointed leader of an extreme rightist youth group, the German Reichs Youth, was sent to prison Thursday for five months for forming an unconstitutional organization in 1951. The court found that Wegener and his 400 followers had taken over certain principles from the Nazi Hitler Youth organization.

Residents Protest Road Impassable Since 1949

NORTH COWICHAN — A protest meeting over the condition of Gibbins Road, said to be almost impassable since 1949, was held by residents of the Vimy-Gibbins Road area Thursday.

It was stated that the council in office in 1949 had assured residents that $40,000 had been set aside to rebuild the road.

Reeve G. A. R. Murison of North Cowichan told the ratepayers that under the council's three-year plan such important roads as Gibbins would be widened, rebuilt and paved.

First stage of this plan had already been carried out on Gibbins Road and $5,000 had been spent on surveys and land purchases, he said.

A further $12,000 would be spent next year and the road should be completed by 1956. He said first phase of the work would probably be started upon Herd Road in 1955.

Reeve Murison went thoroughly into the tax structure of the municipality and reminded ratepayers that taxes had been substantially reduced with a three-mill cut last year. He said he could give no promise of a further reduction, but believed they could hold the line.

He was supported by Clr. D. C. Morton, who asked the meeting to re-organize the Vimy Ratepayers' Association in order that the area could have an organization to represent it.

Councillor Morton added that copies of the year's road program had been sent to every ratepayers' association in the municipality, early in the year, but that there was no such group in the Gibbins Road area.

Chairman of the meeting was Glen Spinks, who said work buses had stopped calling for men on Gibbins Road because of potholes and the school board was threatening to take off the school bus.

Residents expressed willingness to wait another year for a passable road.

It was also agreed to revive the Vimy Ratepayers' Association elected president with Robert Buzzard as secretary.

German Arming Past First Hurdle

BONN, Germany (AP) — The treaties to rearm West Germany cleared their first hurdles on the road to ratification in Bonn and Paris Friday.

But the attitude of legislators in both countries showed many more obstacles remained before West Germans get the right to raise a 500,000-man force for NATO.

In Paris, the foreign affairs committee of the French National Assembly recommended ratification of the treaties to restore German sovereignty, give her the right to rearm and settle the troublesome Saar dispute.

But the Bonn treaty providing for rearmament was by the narrowest of margins, 16 to 15, with 11 abstentions. Later an independent deputy tried unsuccessfully to change his positive vote to abstention, which would have made it 15-15.

In Bonn, the Bundesrat (upper house) gave preliminary approval to all the treaties except the controversial Saar settlement. The Bundesrat said its position on this pact, which is most unpopular in West Germany, would be made known after the Bundestag (lower house) acts.

This was a storm signal of trouble to come for the Saar agreement, which the French insist must be accepted as their price for allowing German rearmament.

'Pipe Organ' To Stop Dirt

Huge dust collectors built at Yarrows, resembling a pipe organ, are guaranteed to catch many hundreds of tons of nuisance dust at Port Alberni and Bamberton each year. Standing beside one of the five collectors are Yarrows ironworkers Duncan McColl and Frank Wheldon.

Dust Collectors Now Ready To Help Keep Island Clean

"Multiclone" dust collectors built at Yarrows and guaranteed to collect many hundred of tons of nuisance dust each year, will help keep Vancouver Island clean.

Last two of five multiclones built at Yarrows will be ready for delivery on Tuesday.

They are being built for the Somass Division of MacMillan & Bloedel and will be used to cut down dust nuisance in the Albernis.

The three completed were built for B.C. Cement Company. Two of them have already been installed and the third is in the process of installation.

There already has been a noticeable decrease in dust on the Malahat around the Bamberton works. In the Albernis the problem is fly ash, sawdust, and soot in the smoke and the new multiclones are expected to reduce the nuisance by more than 80 per cent.

Cost of each multiclone unit is in the neighborhood of $8,000, depending on the size, and the size varies according to the dimensions of the stack, rate of combustion, and subsequent release of gas and smoke.

The multiclone structures look more like pipe organs than dust collectors.

Supervision of construction has been carried out at Yarrows by an official of the Precipitation Company of Canada, Limited.

That company gives a guarantee to all the firms to which it supplies dust collectors that they will have a certain efficiency in the region of from 85 to 99 per cent.

Dust collectors installed at the B.C. Cement plant at Bamberton are rated to have 88 per cent efficiency.

The collectors are erected at the base of the chimney and the gases from the kiln pass through them on the way to the stack by means of large ducts.

Gasses from the kiln are forced through one side of the multiclone by forced-draft fans and pass downward through the collecting tubes in a spiral motion.

The dust falls into a hopper. When the gases reach the bottom of the tubes, the only outlet is back up the outside of the tubes to the top of the collector.

In this way the fine particles of dust are separated from the gases. A portion of the recovered dust is fed from the bottom hopper into a screw conveyor and carried away into the kiln. The remainder is carted away for other uses.

The amount of dust recovered runs into many hundreds of tons a year.

Full benefit of the dust collectors is expected to be noticed next spring when trees sprout new foliage, which should remain green all year.

Earring Falls, Phones Ring

Next time she appeared on the screen she announced that she had found the earring on the floor, and expressed her thanks to watchful fans.

Idle Cougars Find Results Good As Flyers Trimmed, Canucks Tied

Here Tonight

EDDIE KULLMAN

Former NHL forward Eddie Kullman will be seen in action at Memorial Arena tonight when improved Saskatoon Quakers make their second appearance of season here. Kullman, a fine defensive forward, got away to a slow start this season but has been picking up points regularly of late, helping Quakers in their comeback try after club slipped to bottom of Western Hockey League standings.

HOW THEY STAND

	GP	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts.
Calgary	29	15	10	4	124	98	34
New West.	27	14	9	4	99	90	32

VICTORIA	27	14	12	1	97	80	29
Vancouver	27	9	14	4	74	90	22
Saskatoon	28	8	18	2	83	123	18

Last night's scores: Edmonton 1, at Calgary 4; Saskatoon 2 at Vancouver 2.
Next games: Tonight—Saskatoon at VICTORIA, Vancouver at New Westminster, Calgary at Edmonton.

Victoria Cougars were idle last night but results in the two Western Hockey League games played could hardly have been better as far as they are concerned.

Saskatoon Quakers and Vancouver Canucks, the two clubs which trail the Cougars, played to a 2-2 deadlock in Vancouver and the split in points was certainly a satisfactory result for the Islanders.

At Calgary, the Stampeders whacked the Edmonton Flyers, 6-1, and while this result left Cougars five points out of the lead instead of three, as would have been the case had Edmonton won, it further tightened the interesting tussle for first place. Flyers have three games in hand on the Stamps and the Cougars have two.

COMING FAST

Tonight the Cougars, the fastest-moving club of all in recent weeks, will try the improved Quakers at Memorial Arena. In three previous clashes the Cougars won by 8-2 at home, by 5-2 in Saskatoon, and lost, 7-0 in the second Saskatoon encounter. Since then the Quakers have been coming fast, winning three and tying two of their last six games.

It was a tough, rugged tussle at Calgary with the Stamps, who started the game without defensemen Gus Kyle and Max Quackenbush perhaps losing the services of defenseman Pat Coburn and forward Ray Barry for a game or two. Both suffered broken noses, Barry when he ran into Johnny Bucyk's stick and Coburn when he was cross-checked by Normie Ullman. Stampeders finished the game with but 11 players but there is a chance that Coburn and Barry may play tonight at Edmonton.

Archie Scott and Doc Couture each scored twice for the Stamps, who took a 3-0 lead in the second period after a scoreless 20 minutes and were breezing along with a shutout in prospect when Bronco Horvath scored Edmonton's goal at 18:28 of the final period.

TIED FOR LEAD

Horvath's goal, his 22nd of the season, gave him 40 points and tied him with Victoria's Ed Dorohoy for the scoring lead. Stamps' Sid Finney picked up an assist to boost his point total to 38 and Couture added an assist to his goals to get right into contention with 37 points.

At Vancouver, the Canucks turned in their best game since their last victory, which came on November 12, but it still wasn't good enough to end their winless streak, now at 12 games.

CANUCKS HAD EDGE

Canucks held a good edge in play for most of the game but needed two third-period goals to get a point, the Quakers scoring in each of the first two periods. Bad shooting and bad passing kept the Canucks from ending their streak.

George Senick, ex-Quaker came to life against his former teammates. He passed to rookie Ray Cyr for the first Vancouver goal early in the third period, then took Cyr's pass late in the game to get his club a point.

And Carl Kaiser, former Canuck did his best to prove his old club made a mistake in trading him away. He set up the first Saskatoon goal and checked so enthusiastically in the free-wheeling game that he picked up four minor penalties.

Shamrocks	3	3	6
Fletchers	1	2	2

Last night's score: Vampires 56, Individuals 50.
Next game, Tuesday: Fletchers vs. Comets.

Vampires took over the lead in the men's senior "B" basketball league at S. J. Willis Junior High School gym last night, winning their third in a row as they edged past Individuals 54-50.

In a preliminary juvenile boys' game, Ace Plumbers trimmed Eagles, 25-13.

Led in the first half by Des Pimlott and in the second half by Lou McCorkall, Vampires were ahead most of the way in a close game. They led by a single point, 31-30, at half-time and added three points to their margin after the intermission.

Pimlott, who led his club with 14 points, picked up 12 of them in the first half. McCorkall took up the slack in the second half, scoring 10 of his 12 points after the rest period.

Pete Turko and Don Donahue carried most of the scoring load for the losers. Turko shoving in 17 points, 13 in the first half and Donahue clicking for 12.

Results broke a three-way tie for the lead, leaving Individuals and Shamrocks sharing second place.

Victoria High Wins Colonist Cup— Great Final Climaxed by 4-0 Victory

Victoria High School brought to a close one of the most dramatic Colonist Cup finals in the history of the 19-year-old battle-scarred trophy competition yesterday at Royal Athletic Park by blanking Mount View High, 4-0, to win the inter-high school senior soccer championship.

In what proved to be an anti-climatic finish in the titanic struggle for inter-high honors this season, Victoria High rapped in three goals in the space of 10 minutes in the first half and added a fourth in the second half to regain the championship from Mount View.

LOSERS STUBBORN

The stubborn suburban school, small in numbers but large in spirit, won the title three years ago and again last year when it staged a great finish to edge out the city institution. And again this year, the losers came close as they won the opener of a scheduled best-of-three series and tied the second and fourth games. Victoria High won the third game, 2-0.

There was no doubt as to which was the better team yesterday. Victoria High, which appeared "up" for the crucial contest, played brilliantly for the entire 70 minutes while Mount View battled gamely but couldn't withstand the pressure that was applied by the winners for most of the first half and the later stages of the second session.

TEAM EFFORT

The victory was fashioned by great team play. Every player did his job and did it well with the speedy forward line getting good support from the halfbacks, and the fullbacks clearing almost faultlessly. Not to be overlooked was goalie Tom English, who earned his second shutout of the series with some sparkling saves.

Mount View, which appeared the more nervous team, couldn't seem to settle down. Poor clearing resulted in two of the first-half goals and the losers couldn't get together on attack with passes going astray and chances being missed through poor shooting.

STEADFAST CENTRE

Outstanding on the Victoria High forward line were centre-forward Len Chekwech and outside right and captain Dune McKaig. Chekwech, a bustling type of player, scored one goal and unselfishly passed several times when he might have added to his total of four goals in the series.

McKaig, who along with Chekwech and Bud McLaren have been called up on trial by Victoria City for today's match against New Westminster Royals, set up the first goal and scored the second.

Mount View missed one of its best chances, and one that might have turned the tide in its favor, when centre-forward Larry Alexander broke into the clear but dribbled a shot wide from close range. The winners put on the pressure from their and their efforts were rewarded after 22 minutes when McKaig intercepted a bad kick by Mount View goalie Fred Middleton, crossed to Chekwech who first-timed into the net.

Less than a minute later, McKaig and Bud McLaren combined nicely with the little winger taking a return pass and making no mistake on a bullet drive. Dick McLaren, a regular with Victoria City, made it 3-0 when his 25-yard free kick boomed past Middleton, who dived at the ball and only partially stopped the shot.

Mount View pressed in the early part of the second half but couldn't penetrate Victoria High's sure defense. Another break for the winners came when centre-half Brian Carver drove a penalty kick directly into the waiting hands of English.

Disheartened, Mount View seemed to fade and Middleton, who was the best player in a losing game, punched several tickeled shots over the bar before Don McIntosh connected with a beautifully-hit first-timer to end the scoring.

The final whistle touched off a demonstration by the wildly-cheering Victoria High supporters, who were several hundred strong. They arrived in full force led by cheer leaders, majorettes and a band after a parade from the school and gave the players a wild ovation when Seth Halton, publisher of The Daily Colonist, presented the Colonist Cup to McKaig.

Victoria High qualified to meet the Mainland champions for the B.C. title and will be seeking to keep the championship on the Island. Mount View winning the crown last year.

Line-ups follow:

Mount View—Fred Middleton, Ray Burley, Dick Smith, Tom Harmon, Brian Carver, Bill Gandy, Dave Allan, Wayne Heatherington, Larry Alexander, Wayne Bilinski, George Robbins.

Victoria High—Tom English, Fred Mair, Don Paulin, Dan Atkinson, Bill Abbott, Dick McLaren, Ed Kowalyk, Don McIntosh, Leo Chekwech, Dun McKaig, Bud McLaren.

Totems Get Second Win; Host U.S. Team Tonight

Vic High Totems picked up their second victory of the season last night as they edged Cec Fletchers of the Victoria and District Basketball Association men's senior "B" league, 42-38, in an exhibition game at the Victoria High School gymnasium.

Playing slow, possession basketball through most of the game, Totems moved into an 11-7 lead in the opening quarter and held a 22-15 advantage at the half.

STRONG RALLY

Totems outplayed their opponents by a wide margin in the third quarter, netting 12 points to the losers' two points to take a 34-17 lead into the final 10 minutes. Fletchers rallied strongly in the closing stages but the surge fell short as the Totems stalled through the final minutes.

In a preliminary contest, the Totems' "B" squad defeated the Esquimalt High School junior team, 33-29.

Totems will probably be facing their strongest opposition of the season tonight when they host the Bellingham Robertson Roofers at Central Junior High School.

SCORING POWER

Led by six-foot, seven-inch Elmer Gerner, the American junior club rolled to 22 victories in 27 games last season and are undefeated in league play this year. The Roofers flashed their scoring power at Alberni last night although going down to a 100-61 defeat before the senior "A" Alberni Athletics.

Gerner dropped in 14 points and Jim Lohman added 15 for the Roofers.

Opening game at 7.30 tonight will send the Totems' "B" team against St. Louis College.

Line-ups follow:

Vic High Totems—Don Perry 4, Terry Late 3, Ken McCulloch 4, Ed Kowalyk 3, Tom English, Jim Leask 1, Bob Tomlinson 7, Brian Woolridge 7, Bud Rutherford 4, Doug Jones 4, Waldo Skillings 8, Bill Abbott. Total—42.
Cec Fletchers—Ron Martin 9, Ken Murray 14, John Cotterall 8, Gary Gilbert 5, Ace McMeekin 2, Laurie Woolett. Total—38.
Totems "B"—Dick Austin 1, Art Chiko 2, Tim McDougal 3, Larry Montgomery, Norm Parker 3, Ross Beckham 12, Frank Taylor 3. Total—33.
Esquimalt—W. Benson 3, Whalen 9, A. Hunter 6, F. Mitchell 7, B. Noel 2, D. Shaw 3. Total—29.

Canadian Football No Smash

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Football fans in the United States got their first chance to follow Canadian pro football via television during the 1954 season. What impact did it have on them, and on the American game?

"Canadian football in this area made about as much of the thud as a marshmallow rolling into the Grand Canyon," says Craig Stolze of the Sioux Falls, S.D., Argus-Leader.

"It will have no more effect on American football than scotch has on bourbon in Kentucky," says Bill Fox of the Indianapolis News.

MAJORITY OPINION

Those two and virtually all the others of more than 100 sports writers and broadcasters replying to The Associated Press post-season questionnaire agreed the Canadian brand of football game had a negligible effect on the U.S. kind.

About a dozen found fairly lively fan interest and expressed the opinion that eventually some of the more attractive features of Canadian football will be incorporated into the American game.

The viewers who took notice of the Canadian teams apparently liked their speedy, open style and the total absence of time outs. They didn't care much for the Canadian rule which forbids downfield blocking, figuring those blocks in the open and the long runs they often produce are an integral part of the game.

Other Canadian features which aroused interest were the rouge and the fact that kicks must be run back, unlike the American game, where a receiver can signal that he doesn't intent to run the ball.

OTHER VIEW

Only one of the writers found any marked interest among the fans in his area. Henry Burke of the South Bay Daily Breeze, Redondo, Calif., said:

"Although I have seen only two games this year, comments from other sources indicate that they got to the point where they preferred Canadian football to most college games."

Block Russian Series For Winnipeg Squad

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has blocked a bid by Winnipeg Maroons, western senior hockey finalists last season, to play a two-game exhibition series in Russia next year.

Terry Hind, manager of the Maroons, said Friday the CAHA received an invitation from Russia to send a Canadian team for games January 13 and 15.

Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg, first vice-president of the CAHA, recommended that the Maroons be sent. The CAHA called a mail vote of its executive and Dunn was the only one voting in favor of sending the team.

NOT PRACTICAL

In Midland, Ont., George Dudley, secretary-manager of the CAHA, said other association officials felt the trip by the Winnipeg club at this late date would not be practical.

"No one has been to Russia to look over the stadium and conditions," said Dudley. "Penticton V's had been selected as the team to represent Canada in the world championships in Germany next February and the officials felt that if Winnipeg were to tour Russia and perhaps defeat the Russians, the edge would be taken off the championships."

Hind said that the Russians had offered "no less than $20,000 towards expenses for the tour."

Dudley, however, said the Russians had made no definite offer of $20,000. In Europe last summer he spoke to Russian officials and gave them a round figure of $20,000 as an approximate cost of flying a team over.

DISAGREES

Hind said he was "puzzled" by the CAHA's and Dudley's reasoning.

"I can't see how the result of the games would have any bearing on the championships. It's only supposition that we'd beat them. I think it would give the CAHA an idea what to expect when Penticton meets the Russians in the world championships," Hind said.

"Canada lost a lot of face when Russia won the world championship last year, and you'd think the CAHA would relish the idea of seeing how strong they were this year."

Hind said the Maroons would be able to field a strong club for the exhibition series. He referred to such stars as Pete Langelle, Bill Juzda, Billy Robinson, Tommy Rockey, Sheldon Bloomer, Odie Lowe and Chuck Lumsden, all former professionals, goalie Don Collins and others who could make the trip.

The Maroon manager said his club, stranded without a league to play in this year, would have been a "natural choice."

HARRY WATSON

Watson, Litzenberger Sold to Black Hawks

CHICAGO (UP) — The Chicago Black Hawks, in last place in the National Hockey League and seeking scoring punch to pull themselves out, Friday announced the purchase of a 200-goal veteran and a high-scoring rookie.

Club owners of the league held a meeting in Toronto today and Jim Norris, president of the Hawks, announced the deals through the Hawks' office here.

From the Toronto Maple Leafs, the Hawks purchased Harry Watson, 31-year-old winger man who has been in the league for 10 years and who has just passed the 200-goal mark for his professional career.

Eddie Litzenberger, 22, playing his first year in the league, was purchased from Montreal Canadiens. In 29 games as a professional, he has scored seven goals and four assists for a total of 11 points, and a Hawks' spokesman said club officials were "high" on him.

Watson, who has played eight years with Toronto and two with Detroit, is one of the few 200-goal scorers left in the NHL. He has played only eight games this year, having been on the injured list, and the one goal he scored was his 200th. He will be seeking his 201st when the wings meet the Leafs in Toronto Saturday night.

Litzenberger, who came to the Canadiens this year after scoring 57 goals in two years with the Montreal Royals, will be counted upon to add needed point-making punch in the Hawks' forward line.

House III Wins First Road Race

House III walked off with top honors in both the junior and senior divisions Thursday in the first of a monthly series of road races over a 3.2-mile course at Oak Bay High School.

Gordon Wilkie topped the junior runners in the time of 12:16.6, while Bill Mossie placed first among the seniors in 13 minutes, 39 seconds.

Jack Showers of House III and Tom Eardley of House I were second and third, respectively, in the junior event while Pete Napper and Doug Stewart of Houses II and III, respectively were second and third in the senior division.

Aussie Cricket Fans Turning to Baseball

BY ARCH MacKENZIE

LONDON (CP)—The current cricket tour of Australia by an English team has produced some chilling reports, apart from England's in-and-out performance.

The word is that the Aussies aren't as keen about the game as they used to be.

The implications are fearsome to cricket fans here, who rightly view the Australians as the toughest opponents and choicest drawing cards in the sport, played pretty generally throughout the Commonwealth.

Unkindest cut of all is that baseball may be the kiss of death. Visiting English and native cricket writers seem agreed that the action-loving Australian is cooler toward the game now.

SAD FORECAST

John Paton, writing from Sydney for the London News Chronicle, said nobody smiled when a former Australian test player looked sadly at his favorite cricket ground and said: "To think that in 10 years or so, they'll probably be playing baseball there."

Five persons queued before a Sydney match featuring the touring English team, which will play five test games against Australia before coming home. Before the Second World War, thousands would have been struggling to get in.

R. S. Whitington, writing from Brisbane for the Evening News, warned of some English moves to cut down scoring.

"These tactics will kill cricket dead in Australia in one season, and if cricket dies in Australia, it cannot survive for long in England for financial reasons."

WANT MORE ACTION

The reasons for the cricket decline include the Australian love of action, as exemplified by tennis. Baseball also appeals in that regard.

Another thing, Paton reported, is that thousands of new Australians are from Europe. They love soccer and speedily adapt themselves to swimming, surfboarding and other Australian specialties, but they don't play cricket.

The only local turkey shoot carded for shotgun enthusiasts this Sunday will be held at the grounds of the North Saanich Rod and Gun Club at its Beacon Street grounds at Sidney, starting at 10 a.m.

Don Hill Joins City Team For Hoop Game Tonight

Victoria's senior "A" men's basketball squad, which dropped a 73-62 decision to Alberni Athletics at Chemainus last Sunday, will be strengthened by the addition of Don "Twitter" Hill for a clash with the Athletics at Oak Bay Junior High School tonight.

The speedy Hill will be reunited with another former Alberni star, Dave Williamson, who poured 20 points through the hoop in his first start for Howie Tooby's sponsorless Victorians last Sunday, when he steps on the floor against his former mates.

ZONE DEFENSE

Cheered by the excellent showing of his club in its first meeting with the powerful Athletics who went to the semi-finals of the Canadian championships last spring before losing out to Winnipeg Paulins, Tooby will be trying to disrupt the tight Alberni zone defense that forced the Victoria forwards to do most of their shooting from long range at Chemainus.

In addition to the former Alberni forwards, Tooby plans to strip high-scoring Johnny Clark, Ed Pedersen, Gerry Parker, Al Davies, George Denison, Dick Sleep, Gordy Jones and Don Hendry.

Alberni playing coach Elmer Speidel is expected to bring down import guard Ron Bissett, Al Brown, Doug Brinham, Joe Samarin, Denny Grisdale, Laurie Veitch, John Kootnekoff, Mitchell and Desaulnier.

In a preliminary juvenile boys' contest starting at 7.30, McMorran's will meet Ace Plumbers.

Vince Martinez Wins

NEW YORK (UP) — Vince Martinez, handsome welterweight contender of Paterson, N.J., registered his 13th straight victory last night when his harder punching gave him a unanimous 10-round decision over middleweight Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., in Madison Square Garden.

Rangy, black-haired Martinez, scaling 150 pounds to Andrews' 154, stunned his opponent in the sixth, seventh, ninth and 10th rounds, but could not floor him. Andrews bled from the nose starting in the second round and his right eye was nearly closed at the finish.

"Violent Vince," who claimed he had refused a bribe of $25,000 before his last previous fight with Carmine Fiore, knocked the mouthpiece from Andrews' lips five times last night.

Martinez, rated fifth among the world's welterweight contenders, did most of his damage last night with left jabs and right uppercuts. His more explosive punching gave him a distinct advantage although the game bobber-weaver from Wisconsin forced the fight in every round and gave Vince's body a beating at times.

Wininger Sets Tourney Pace; Snead Retires

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bo Wininger, a husky ruddy-faced Oklahoman, putted brilliantly Friday and shot into the lead of the Miami open golf tournament at the halfway mark. He fired a 66 for a 134 total.

Wininger dislodged Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., whose 67-68—135 appeared safe until Wininger and his blazing putter went to work.

The tournament was thrown wide open in the morning when the favorite, Sam Snead, was forced to withdraw because of a recurrence of an old back injury.

Snead was one stroke out of first place after the opening round.

Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., first round leader with a 66, took a one-over par 71 Friday and dropped into a tie for third at 137 with U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol of St. Louis.

Remember When:

Toronto Argos edged Winnipeg Bombers 4-3 in the lowest scoring Grey Cup final ever played, 17 years ago today. Bob Isbister's punting was a feature of the Argo effort while Bob Fritz's plunging kept the Winnipeg team close all the way.

Max Schmeling Calls 'Fix' Story Ridiculous

NEW YORK (AP)—Max Schmeling, one-time world heavyweight boxing champion, has called ridiculous a magazine story that he had won a fixed fight from Harry Thomas in New York December 14, 1937.

The charge was made in Sports Illustrated by Thomas, who also said that James D. Norris, Jr., new president of the International Boxing Club, American manager, had conspired to fix the fight. Thomas listed Norris as his silent manager. His manager of record was Nate Lewis. Both Lewis and Jacobs now are dead.

Schmeling, speaking from his mink farm near Hamburg, Germany, said Thomas' charges were ridiculous and "illogical."

"Don't forget that this bout took place in 1937, at a time when nobody in the United States could have been interested to bring me, the German, more into the spotlight than I already was after my knockout of Joe Louis."

In a bout previous to the one with Thomas, Schmeling flattened Louis in 12 rounds.

Norris, who has termed the story "untrue, libelous and absurd," has turned the case over to his lawyers.

Tony Galento, the former prize fighter now a Jersey saloonkeeper who also was charged with having won a fixed fight from Thomas, said at Orange, N.J., that "I don't need no bum to lay down to me."

He added that he still could beat Thomas "in two rounds—no, make it one round."

Arthur Donovan, who refereed Thomas' fight with Schmeling, which ended in the eighth round, said:

"He (Thomas) was down six times and was taking such a licking that he needed 11 stitches in his mouth afterwards. There's no question in my mind that he couldn't fight."

Ameche Voted 'Back of Year'

NEW YORK (UP) — Alan Ameche, the 210-pound fullback who set an all-time rushing record of 3,212 yards in four seasons at Wisconsin, has been selected as college football's back of the year in the annual United Press poll.

Ameche beat out Howard Cassady, Ohio State's all-America halfback, in a close race. A total of 336 sports writers and broadcasters took part in the balloting and the Wisconsin all-America drew 86 votes against Cassady's 83.

The 21-year-old Ameche recently led the balloting for the United Press 1954 all-America team. He was also named to receive the Heisman Trophy as the season's outstanding college player.

Royals Win, 5-2.

Royals took over first place in the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association's bantam division at Memorial Arena Thursday by scoring a 5-2 victory over Bruins.

Robert Little, Russ Hawes, Wayne Farmer, Bob Freer and Murray Halkett scored for the winners, who are unbeaten this season, while Bob Hamilton got both goals for Bruins.

Next scheduled game will be Thursday when Senators tangle with Capitals at Memorial Arena at 7 a.m.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

By Hal Sharp

GIVE CRIPPLES A FAST 2ND SHOT

GAME BIRDS AND WATER-FOWL COLLAPSE AND FALL LIKE A DEAD WEIGHT WHEN YOU SCORE A CLEAN KILL. THEY ARE SELDOM DIFFICULT TO LOCATE.

CRIPPLED BIRDS MAY GLIDE TO EARTH ON SET WINGS, OR TUMBLE ERRATICALLY TRYING TO REGAIN FLIGHT. THEY MAY CONTINUE OUT OF SIGHT, RUN, OR HIDE, SO YOU LOSE THEM. IF IN DOUBT, GIVE 'EM A KILLING 2ND SHOT AS THEY FALL. THIS ALSO APPLIES TO LARGE GAME. SHOOT UNTIL IT DROPS.

FAMED NOVELIST

Jane Austen, great English novelist who died in 1817, was the youngest of seven children—five boys and two girls.

Leclair Out Two Weeks

MONTREAL (BUP) — Jackie Leclair, rookie Montreal Canadien center, suffered two gashed arteries in his throat Thursday night when he fell on the skate of an opposing player during the first period of a National Hockey League game against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The center was taken to a hospital and club officials said he will remain there at least two weeks.

The mishap occurred early in the first period when he was accidentally cut by Larry Cahan's skate. Bleeding heavily, he skated off the ice with the help of teammates.

He was replaced at center between Maurice Richard and Bert Olmstead by Dickie Moore.

Moore scored the opening goal as the Canadiens went on to down the Leafs, 2-0.

Officials of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association have announced that there will be no regular meeting during December. The next meeting will be held in January.

Uranium Find Causes Flurry At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market soared with fast dealings in some sections but sold off in others to give a thoroughly mixed appearance at the close.

Trading started tamely at the slowest pace in two months but with early afternoon reports from the Blind River, Ont., uranium camp things began to pop.

Roche reported finding radioactive ore in its drilling and a buying spree in the final 11 minutes of trading pushed it ahead again to 70 cents for a 37-cent gain on the day.

Consolidated Denison ended up 21 cents, Lafaska in the same area up 19 cents.

Trading on uranium issues was so heavy near the close the tape fell behind and it was not until seven minutes after the market closed that it finally caught up.

Golds had their strongest session in months. Melville moved $2.50 to $72.50, Preston East Dome touched $5.00, Pato consolidated $6.50 and Wrightargo rose $2.11 all on sharp activity. San Antonio closed on a 1954 top of $2.04.

TV Talk

BY ROY PARRETT

Television is like a drug. Once tasted, a permanent craving for it develops.

People can't live without it.

Things start happening when a TV set stops working. Most viewers don't rest until it is repaired.

Which causes the technicians behind the scenes plenty of grief, especially over the week-end.

A repairman's life isn't his own anymore. He is liable to be called from his bath at midnight to repair somebody's ailing set.

It has to be done at once.

Local TV men are a pretty good lot used to the customers' demand for sudden service at unusual hours.

But they can never understand the customers' callous attitude toward the finished job.

After having left some equally important task at his own home, journeying to the customer's residence, examining the TV set, relying on years of experience to diagnose the trouble, drawing on his expensive stock of tools and equipment to repair the fault, he is usually greeted with: "Oh, you a tube eh?"

Which is like looking at the Legislative Buildings and remarking: "just a pile of stones."

BERLIN (UP)—The jack-booted rowdies and Jew-baiters of the Nazi era have made a sinister reappearance in West Berlin.

The biggest shock came at a "German Party" election rally when spectators who refused to sing "Deutchsland Ueber Alles" were dragged from their seats savagely beaten and denounced as "Jewish swine."

But it was not an isolated incident. There have been many others in recent months.

Slain Wife 'Absolutely in My Corner,'—Sheppard

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard on Friday denied his wife's July 4 murder and said she was Marilyn Sheppard is absolutely in my corner. He is on trial for his life in the slaying.

He also testified police pressured him after his arrest. His defense counsel William Corrigan and prosecutor Leo Brudnick quarreled bitterly as Sheppard was questioned about a fatal beating of his pregnant wife.

Sheppard said police interrogators during an 11-hour grilling after his arrest called him "a dirty low down . . ." and told him people would point at his little son for years to come, and say "his father killed his mother."

"I told them I didn't do it," the 30-year-old osteopath said.

Earlier Dr. Sheppard told how he bore up under the strain of accusation because "Marilyn was on my corner and right beside me."

"Do you feel she is on your corner now?" he was asked by Corrigan.

"She's absolutely in my corner," the defendant replied.

Sheppard said police interrogators during an 11-hour grilling after his arrest called him "a dirty low down . . ." and told him people would point at his little son for years to come, and say "his father killed his mother."

"I told them I didn't do it," Dr. Sheppard continued. "I couldn't do it to my wife. I loved Marilyn. We were planning to have a baby and both of us were very pleased about it. The officers questioned the fact of my being the father of the baby."

Dr. Sheppard told how he fell asleep on a downstairs couch after he and his wife had watched television and how he was awakened by her screams.

"I ran to the stairway and I could see Marilyn at the bottom of the stairs. She was struggling with a form dressed in white. I grappled with the form and we struggled through the living room, through the sun porch and out onto the beach.

"I remember saying, 'Who are you?' and 'Why are you doing this?' The form said nothing.

"I was overpowered and knocked unconscious. When I awoke I was lying on the beach. I ran back to the house and saw Marilyn lying on the floor in the bedroom. I knelt down beside her and felt for a pulse. There was none. I ran to the phone and called my neighbor, Mrs. Susan Hayes, and asked her to call the police and an ambulance."

In a tensely dramatic recital, Dr. Sheppard retold once more his version of Marilyn's slaying on a night of wild wind and horror.

BOOM GIVES 'RICH' LOOK TO ESQUIMALT

Island, Canada Linked

Canso Causeway Now Complete

PORT HASTINGS, N.S. (CP)—Ton after ton of earth crashing down from big diesel dump trucks finally licked the swirling Strait of Canso late Friday and Cape Breton found itself neatly hooked to the Nova Scotia mainland.

A mute crowd of about 50 people watched the clanking, mud-caked trucks drive the 4,200 foot causeway across the last few feet of tidal waters whose mounting force delayed the link-up.

WAITS IN RAIN

Among them was Lieutenant-Governor Allstair Fraser who stood patiently for hours in the rain and muck to witness completion of the 27-month-old project's major phase.

"It is a wonderful achievement," he said.

The Nova Scotia government expects the curving land bridge to be opened to road and rail traffic in early spring. A formal elaborate ceremony probably will be held then.

The lieutenant-governor said the undertaking would "prove inestimable value to the tourist trade of our province and the economic well-being of the province as a whole."

LEGENDS GONE

But to the 160,000 hardy Scots and French-descended inhabitants of Cape Breton it obliterated a host of legends flavored by a people proud of their island independence. And it tended to sour the brand of humor that produced tales like that of the old Highland lady who is said to have ended every bedtime prayer with thanks for the strait that protected her from the dubious influences of "foreigners"—anyone not from Cape Breton.

The causeway was begun in June, 1952. Into it went 10,000,000 tons of rock-fill from the side of nearby Porcupine Mountain.

Post-War Surge in Building Changes Face of District

A $4,000,000 building boom which began in 1948 and shows no signs of abating is rapidly transforming Esquimalt from the "working man's town" of yesterday into a modern residential municipality.

A large amount of space for homes and industries is still available in the municipality, and estimates for 1955 already include a figure of almost as many homes as have been constructed to date this year.

Most new structures since the peak year of 1948 have been homes, but Reeve A. C. Wurtele has indicated that 1955 may break all records with a boom in both home and business construction.

Building permit totals since the Second World War show that construction in 1948 soared to a record 237 items worth $814,175. Records were also set that year with 118 dwellings worth $630,200 and 119 miscellaneous structures.

WHOPPING TOTAL

Since January 1, 1948, said W. J. Edgington, municipal inspector, a whopping total of $4,162,581 worth of buildings has gone up in Esquimalt.

Total number of items was 1,129 and the breakdown, which shows 465 dwellings worth $2,766,720, puts an end to the theory that Esquimalt is simply a workers' area and shows a quiet but steady growth equal, in proportion, to the much-publicized boom in Saanich.

During the six-year period, the number of miscellaneous buildings was 664, worth $1,395,861, less than the value of homes only because the category includes small additions, alterations, garages and carports as well as all types of industrial structures.

HOMES TOP LIST

Value of home construction has remained above that of other buildings except during two years, 1951 and 1953. The exceptions were due to the $370,000 Esquimalt High School in 1951 and the $250,000 Malkin warehouse last year.

But for the warehouse, the 1953 total of construction valued at $649,750 would have been surpassed this year.

In the first 11 months of 1954 more homes were built than during all of 1953, and Mr. Edgington said dwellings being completed should push the 1954 total to that of last year.

Figures at November 30 showed 56 dwellings worth $400,500 other buildings valued at $129,805, for a total of 127 items worth $530,305.

STEADY EMPLOYMENT

Main reasons for the increase in number of residents in Esquimalt are the continuing number of new subdivisions and the steady improvement in public services.

Reeve Wurtele said development of 15 properties on Hadfield Avenue, 27 properties on Greenwood Avenue and 10 properties on Craigflower Road is "almost certain" next year.

But typical of the surprising capacity of the municipality to expand is the fact that at least 40 properties may also be developed, along Gosper Avenue, and there are "many other lots" scattered throughout the area.

Conclusion of the reeve is that fewer people are retiring to Esquimalt and more employees of such businesses as Yarrows Limited and more city dwellers are moving to Esquimalt.

CONTINUED SERVICE

He and Mr. Edgington stressed that the municipality must continue to provide services such as improved roads, curbs, gutters, sidewalks and the new local improvement sewer schemes.

As for business, "We have a very valuable property which people do not realize exists," said the reeve. "There is no more desirable property in Greater Victoria and firms which have located here have been given a big boost."

There are indications that industries will be started by at least three firms on Viewfield, Fairview and other roads, he said.

New Year Begun

Today The Daily Colonist begins a new year, its 97th of publication. Don Davidson, night composing room foreman, sets the new Folio number line in the front page form for this morning's paper. Don has worked for Victoria papers for 20 years; his father, James D. Davidson, has been with The Daily Colonist since 1923.

Voters Go to Polls Today In Outside Municipalities

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

Residents of Esquimalt, Saanich and Central Saanich go to the polls today to select municipal representatives to serve on councils and police commissions.

Ratepayers of Greater Victoria municipalities will also be voting on the Greater Victoria school board's $3,129,000 school building referendum.

Fact that nine municipal seats have been filled by acclamation may indicate a light vote, but the referendum is expected to attract many voters to the polls.

Only municipality in which there will be a reeveship contest is Central Saanich.

All Oak Bay council and police commission seats were filled by acclamation and voters in that municipality will be going to the polls only to express their opinions on the school referendum.

No candidate filed nomination papers for the Oak Bay seat on the Greater Victoria School Board, District 61. The board is expected to reappoint Trustee W. H. Golby at a meeting next month. The trustee had planned to file papers but through business pressure missed his opportunity.

Saanich School District 63 will also be faced with the problem of appointing a trustee to fill a one-year vacancy on the board, since no one filed papers for the post left open by the retirement of G. L. Chatterton.

THREE SEATS

Running for the three council seats in Esquimalt are Clr. James Bryant, Benjamin Caley, Clr. J. E. Carey, Ralph Meakes and Clr. G. K. Sammon. Seeking the single police commission post are Clr. George Argyle and Frank Mitchell. Trustee R. H. Reeve was returned by acclamation for another two-year term as Esquimalt representative on the Greater Victoria school board.

Esquimalt polls, at the Municipal Hall and at 855 Craigflower Road, are open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., with Returning Officer James Elrick in charge.

In Saanich, Clr. George Austin, Clr. Robert Fleming, Harold Todd, R. J. Pringle, and Eugene J. Diespecker are running for three vacant seats on council. George Askey was re-elected by acclamation to the police commission. Mrs. W. W. McGill received an acclamation as Saanich trustee for School District 61, Reginald Sinkinson was named by acclamation as Saanich trustee for School District 63.

POLLS LISTED

There are 13 polling stations in Saanich at the following places: Cedar Hill School, Cedar Hill Cross Road; Lansdowne Junior High School; Tolmie School, Boleskine Road; Cloverdale School, Quadra Street; Gordon Head School, Tyndall Avenue; Cadboro Bay Scout Hall, Penryhn Street; Marigold Scout Hall, Marigold Road; 3890 Douglas Street; Royal Oak School, West Saanich Road; McMorran's Pavilion, West Saanich Road; Prospect Lake School, West Saanich Road; Tillicum School, Albina Street; St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Hall, Obed Avenue.

Returning officer is John Tribe. Polling stations will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

REEVE CONTEST

Central Saanich reeveship is being contested by Clr. Willard Michell and H. Rupert Brown. Running for the two council seats are John Windsor, Harry Peard and William Taylor. George Moody was elected by acclamation to the police commission. Mrs. Joyce McDonald received an acclamation as Central Saanich trustee in School District 63.

Central Saanich polling stations are located at the municipal office, Saanichton; Women's Institute Hall, Keating; and the Brentwood School. J. W. Ismay is returning officer.

There is only one polling station in Oak Bay, located at the municipal hall. Returning officer A. D. Findlay will be in charge of the school referendum vote.

Oak Bay posts, all filled by acclamation, are as follows: council, Clr. Patrick Birley, Clr. J. W. Maltby and Charles H. Mann; police commission, Thomas Vickers; school trustee, no nomination.

Results of city and View Royal voting on the school referendum will be announced for the first time tonight when results of the referendum ballot are tabulated in Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Chief's Critics Get Roasting In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police officers who publicly criticized orders of Chief Constable Walter Mulligan came in for a roasting at Friday's meeting of the Vancouver police commission.

Magistrate Oscar Orr said criticism amounted to insubordination, and Judge R. A. Sargent said "sniping in the newspapers has got to stop."

The rebukes were directed at Const. Dan Brown, secretary of the policemen's union, for his remarks in a newspaper that Tuesday's capture of convict Robert Bates was a sound argument for a return to two-man patrol cars.

Dads' Work Taxes Kids

PARIS (Reuters)—Financial Secretary Gilbert Jules complained to the senate Friday that the children of French income tax collectors are getting constantly beaten up by their schoolmates at some French schools.

Vancouver Promised More Bank Arrests

VANCOUVER (UP) — Police Chief Walter Mulligan promised "more important arrests" in his fight against the underworld after four men were picked up in connection with recent bank robberies.

Daniel Haddon, 39, who had been living quietly in a city hotel, was picked up Thursday night after four days and nights of relentless shadowing. He was charged with the $10,000 robbery of a West Vancouver Royal Bank branch December 3.

A second man was arrested with Haddon and police said they found $2,000 in the hotel room.

A third man was arrested in connection with the $1,500 holdup of the downtown Bank of Montreal branch December 1, and in Los Angeles, police picked up Bruce Teetzel, a Canadian who confessed to the $3,000 robbery of a Bank of Nova Scotia branch November 8.

Eight holdups in the Vancouver area in the past six weeks netted gunmen $64,000. Largest was of the West Point Grey branch of the Bank of Montreal of $40,000 December 1.

"The arrests were the result of careful, patient detective work," Chief Mulligan said. "More important arrests are imminent."

'X' Marks The Ballot

An "X" must mark the ballot today in municipal elections.

Saanich returning officer John Tribe last night warned voters that all ballots must be marked only with an X. Any other mark will make the ballot invalid.

Clipper On Last Trip

GREENWICH, Eng. (Reuters)—Sirens and whistles from modern ships saluted the 85-year-old Cutty Sark, only survivor of the China clippers, as she sailed down the Thames on her last—and shortest—voyage from London to the drydocks here.

Once the finest windjammer on the China tea and Australia wool runs, the 963-ton clipper now is only a shadow of her former self.

Her hull unpainted and dirty, her upper masts and yards removed to lighten her, she was gently nudged into the concrete drydock by three tugs. There she will spend the rest of her years as a memorial to Britain's merchant navy ships which once dominated the seas.

Aboard her on the farewell trip down river was Captain C. E. Irving who joined the Cutty Sark as an apprentice seaman in 1885.

The trim little clipper was launched in 1869 and made her maiden voyage from London to Shanghai in 1870.

Ghostly Fires Unsolved, Whole Family in Terror

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The RCMP said Friday it has completed an investigation of the ghostly fires of Flat Rock but the outbreaks that have terrified a family of five remain unexplained.

The first of the fires broke out about three weeks ago in the home of Mike Parsons at Flat Rock, 10 miles from here. Parsons and his wife reported a dictionary burst into flames for no apparent reason.

A few days later a sack of sugar caught fire. Then a box of religious literature stowed in an upstairs bureau. Next was a blaze under the eaves of the Parsons' home. A few days later the floor blazed up. The last outbreak demolished a doll.

Police said they finished their inquiry with no "definite proof" of the origin. Detectives poked through the old homestead in response to an appeal by the family, whose members said they were afraid to sleep at night.

The results of the inquiry have been turned over to the attorney-general's department.

The Parsons reported they had no trouble putting out any of the fires. Mrs. Parsons said the sack of sugar went out easiest of all.

"I just touched it with my hands, I tell you, and the fire went out," she said.

Boy Allergic to Trees, Santa, Candy

Christmas Just Makes Him Sick

SANTA FE, N.M. (UP)—The Yuletide season is just one big pain in the neck to 10-year-old Scott Garrison.

The red-haired fifth-grader is allergic to Santa Claus, Christmas trees and Christmas candy and for him the holiday season is one of long and lonely hibernation.

Unlike other youngsters, a visit from Santa Claus makes him sick. Christmas trees and Christmas candy makes him violently ill.

"When Christmas time rolls around," his mother, Mrs. Cecil Garrison, said, the whole family just goes into hibernation. We even have to inspect people coming for a visit. If anyone happens to be wearing some evergreen as a corsage, it's just as bad as if they were carrying a tree."

As for Santa Claus, the rub there is the stored clothing worn by the old man with the whiskers. Scott is allergic to moth balls.

He is also allergic to Christmas candy and just the sight of it makes him sick.

Right now his mother is nursing him back to health after an accidental brush with a Christmas tree at school.

It was when he was four years old that doctors learned the reason the youngster became deathly ill right at Christmas time and since then his father, an instructor of instrumental music here, and his mother have planned his Christmas in advance so that he wouldn't be exposed.

But even that has worked only two years—last year and the year before. Usually it turns out like this year when Scott brushed the tree at school and had to go home.

"We always take him out of school when they start having trees because we don't want the other children to miss that joy because of Scott," his mother said. "But this year we were too late."

Scott has learned to accept his plight philosophically.

"I don't mind it much, except I always have to miss school right before Christmas," Scott said, gazing wistfully at a plastic white Christmas tree on the mantle—his substitute for a real one.

Even when the Christmas season passes, Scott can look forward to only a few months of normal living for when Easter approaches he has to go into hibernation again.

He's allergic to Easter eggs, too.

Building in Esquimalt Rivalling Saanich Boom

During the six-year period, the number of miscellaneous buildings was 664, worth $1,395,861, less than the value of homes only because the category includes small additions, alterations, garages and carports as well as all types of industrial structures.

HOMES TOP LIST

Value of home construction has remained above that of other buildings except during two years, 1951 and 1953. The exceptions were due to the $370,000 Esquimalt High School in 1951 and the $250,000 Malkin warehouse last year.

But for the warehouse, the 1953 total of construction valued at $649,750 would have been surpassed this year.

In the first 11 months of 1954 more homes were built than during all of 1953, and Mr. Edgington said dwellings being completed should push the 1954 total to that of last year.

Figures at November 30 showed 56 dwellings worth $400,500 other buildings valued at $129,805, for a total of 127 items worth $530,305.

STEADY EMPLOYMENT

Main reasons for the increase in number of residents in Esquimalt are the continuing number of new subdivisions and the steady improvement in public services.

Reeve Wurtele said development of 15 properties on Hadfield Avenue, 27 properties on Greenwood Avenue and 10 properties on Craigflower Road is "almost certain" next year.

But typical of the surprising capacity of the municipality to expand is the fact that at least 40 properties may also be developed, along Gosper Avenue, and there are "many other lots" scattered throughout the area.

Conclusion of the reeve is that fewer people are retiring to Esquimalt and more employees of such businesses as Yarrows Limited and more city dwellers are moving to Esquimalt.

CONTINUED SERVICE

He and Mr. Edgington stressed that the municipality must continue to provide services such as improved roads, curbs, gutters, sidewalks and the new local improvement sewer schemes.

As for business, "We have a very valuable property which people do not realize exists," said the reeve. "There is no more desirable property in Greater Victoria and firms which have located here have been given a big boost."

There are indications that industries will be started by at least three firms on Viewfield, Fairview and other roads, he said.

Voters Go to Polls Today In Outside Municipalities

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

Residents of Esquimalt, Saanich and Central Saanich go to the polls today to select municipal representatives to serve on councils and police commissions.

Ratepayers of Greater Victoria municipalities will also be voting on the Greater Victoria school board's $3,129,000 school building referendum.

Fact that nine municipal seats have been filled by acclamation may indicate a light vote, but the referendum is expected to attract many voters to the polls.

Only municipality in which there will be a reeveship contest is Central Saanich.

All Oak Bay council and police commission seats were filled by acclamation and voters in that municipality will be going to the polls only to express their opinions on the school referendum.

No candidate filed nomination papers for the Oak Bay seat on the Greater Victoria School Board, District 61. The board is expected to reappoint Trustee W. H. Golby at a meeting next month. The trustee had planned to file papers but through business pressure missed his opportunity.

Saanich School District 63 will also be faced with the problem of appointing a trustee to fill a one-year vacancy on the board, since no one filed papers for the post left open by the retirement of G. L. Chatterton.

THREE SEATS

Running for the three council seats in Esquimalt are Clr. James Bryant, Benjamin Caley, Clr. J. E. Carey, Ralph Meakes and Clr. G. K. Sammon. Seeking the single police commission post are Clr. George Argyle and Frank Mitchell. Trustee R. H. Reeve was returned by acclamation for another two-year term as Esquimalt representative on the Greater Victoria school board.

Esquimalt polls, at the Municipal Hall and at 855 Craigflower Road, are open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., with Returning Officer James Elrick in charge.

In Saanich, Clr. George Austin, Clr. Robert Fleming, Harold Todd, R. J. Pringle, and Eugene J. Diespecker are running for three vacant seats on council. George Askey was re-elected by acclamation to the police commission. Mrs. W. W. McGill received an acclamation as Saanich trustee for School District 61. Reginald Sinkinson was named by acclamation as Saanich trustee for School District 63.

POLLS LISTED

There are 13 polling stations in Saanich at the following places: Cedar Hill School, Cedar Hill Cross Road; Lansdowne Junior High School; Tolmie School, Boleskine Road; Cloverdale School, Quadra Street; Gordon Head School, Tyndall Avenue; Cadboro Bay Scout Hall, Penryhn Street; Marigold Scout Hall, Marigold Road; 3890 Douglas Street; Royal Oak School, West Saanich Road; McMorran's Pavilion, West Saanich Road; Prospect Lake School, West Saanich Road; Tillicum School, Albina Street; St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Hall, Obed Avenue.

Returning officer is John Tribe. Polling stations will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

REEVE CONTEST

Central Saanich reeveship is being contested by Clr. Willard Michell and H. Rupert Brown. Running for the two council seats are John Windsor, Harry Peard and William Taylor. George Moody was elected by acclamation to the police commission. Mrs. Joyce McDonald received an acclamation as Central Saanich trustee in School District 63.

Central Saanich polling stations are located at the municipal office, Saanichton; Women's Institute Hall, Keating; and the Brentwood School. J. W. Ismay is returning officer.

There is only one polling station in Oak Bay, located at the municipal hall. Returning officer A. D. Findlay will be in charge of the school referendum vote.

Oak Bay posts, all filled by acclamation, are as follows: council, C. P. Patrick Birley, Clr. J. W. Maltby and Charles H. Mann; police commission, Thomas Vickers; school trustee, no nomination.

Results of city and View Royal voting on the school referendum will be announced for the first time tonight when results of the referendum ballot are tabulated in Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Chief's Critics Get Roasting In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police officers who publicly criticized orders of Chief Constable Walter Mulligan came in for a roasting at Friday's meeting of the Vancouver police commission.

Magistrate Oscar Orr said criticism amounted to insubordination, and Judge R. A. Sargent said "sniping in the newspapers has got to stop."

The rebukes were directed at Const. Dan Brown, secretary of the policemen's union, for his remarks in a newspaper that Tuesday's capture of convict Robert Bates was a sound argument for a return to two-man patrol cars.

PARIS (Reuters)—Financial Secretary Gilbert Jules complained to the senate Friday that the children of French income tax collectors are getting constantly beaten up by their schoolmates at some French schools.

Into Drydock

Cutty Sark Sails Last Brief Trip

GREENWICH, Eng. (Reuters)—Sirens and whistles from modern ships saluted the 85-year-old Cutty Sark, only survivor of the China clippers, as she sailed down the Thames on her last—and shortest—voyage from London to the drydocks here.

Once the finest windjammer on the China tea and Australia wool runs, the 963-ton clipper now is only a shadow of her former self.

Her hull unpainted and dirty, her upper masts and yards removed to lighten her, she was gently nudged into the concrete drydock by three tugs. There she will spend the rest of her years as a memorial to Britain's merchant navy ships which once dominated the seas.

Aboard her on the farewell trip down river was Captain C. E. Irving who joined the Cutty Sark as an apprentice seaman in 1885.

The trim little clipper was launched in 1869 and made her maiden voyage from London to Shanghai in 1870.

'X' Marks The Ballot

An "X" must mark the ballot today in municipal elections.

Saanich returning officer John Tribe last night warned voters that all ballots must be marked only with an X. Any other mark will make the ballot invalid.

Vancouver Promised More Bank Arrests

VANCOUVER (UP) — Police Chief Walter Mulligan promised "more important arrests" in his fight against the underworld after four men were picked up in connection with recent bank robberies.

Daniel Haddon, 39, who had been living quietly in a city hotel, was picked up Thursday night after four days and nights of relentless shadowing. He was charged with the $10,000 robbery of a West Vancouver Royal Bank branch December 3.

A second man was arrested with Haddon, and police said they found $2,000 in the hotel room.

A third man was arrested in connection with the $1,500 holdup of the downtown Bank of Montreal branch December 1, and in Los Angeles, police picked up Bruce Teetzel, a Canadian who confessed to the $3,000 robbery of a Bank of Nova Scotia branch November 8.

Eight holdups in the Vancouver area in the past six weeks netted gunmen $64,009. Largest was of the West Point Grey branch of the Bank of Montreal of $10,000 December 1.

"The arrests were the result of careful, patient detective work," Chief Mulligan said. "More important arrests are imminent."

Police added extra officers for bank duty last night as banks in the Vancouver area opened for the usual late Friday afternoon business period.

Winter Fury Again Whips South Europe

LONDON (AP)—Winter lashed parts of southern Europe with icy rain, wind and snow Friday as flooding rivers and biting temperatures plagued wide areas of the British Isles.

In Dublin, swamped earlier in the week with its worst flood in living memory, thousands of housewives, shopkeepers, and relief workers were busy with cleanup and rehabilitation chores.

Sections of France, Italy and Switzerland were in the path of the new winter fury. The Irish midlands, Wales and England had continuing flood troubles.

The liner Queen Mary landed 844 passengers at Southampton Friday after riding out hurricane force Atlantic squalls. Some of its portholes were broken and a section of the first class dining saloon was flooded.

Ghostly Fires Unsolved, Whole Family in Terror

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The RCMP said Friday it has completed an investigation of the ghostly fires of Flat Rock but the outbreaks that have terrified a family of five remain unexplained.

The first of the fires broke out about three weeks ago in the home of Mike Parsons at Flat Rock, 10 miles from here. Parsons and his wife reported a dictionary burst into flames for no apparent reason.

A few days later a sack of sugar caught fire. Then a box of religious literature stowed in an upstairs bureau. Next was a blaze under the eaves of the Parsons' home. A few days later the floor blazed up. The last outbreak demolished a doll.

Police said they finished their inquiry with no "definite proof" of the origin. Detectives poked through the old homestead in response to an appeal by the family, whose members said they were afraid to sleep at night.

The results of the inquiry have been turned over to the attorney-general's department.

The Parsons reported they had no trouble putting out any of the fires. Mrs. Parsons said the sack of sugar went out easiest of all.

"I just touched it with my hands, I tell you, and the fire went out," she said.

Boy Allergic to Trees, Santa, Candy

Christmas Just Makes Him Sick

SANTA FE, N.M. (UP)—The Yuletide season is just one big pain in the neck to 10-year-old Scott Garrison.

The red-haired fifth-grader is allergic to Santa Claus, Christmas trees and Christmas candy and for him the holiday season is one of long and lonely hibernation.

Unlike other youngsters, a visit from Santa Claus makes him sick. Christmas trees and Christmas candy makes him violently ill.

"When Christmas time rolls around," his mother, Mrs. Cecil Garrison, said, the whole family just goes into hibernation. We even have to inspect people coming for a visit. If anyone happens to be wearing some evergreen as a corsage, it's just as bad as if they were carrying a tree."

As for Santa Claus, the rub there is the stored clothing worn by the old man with the whiskers. Scott is allergic to moth balls.

He is also allergic to Christmas candy and just the sight of it makes him sick.

Right now his mother is nursing him back to health after an accidental brush with a Christmas tree at school.

It was when he was four years old that doctors learned the reason the youngster became deathly ill right at Christmas time and since then his father, an instructor of instrumental music here, and his mother have planned his Christmas in advance so that he wouldn't be exposed.

But even that has worked only two years—last year and the year before. Usually it turns out like this year when Scott brushed the tree at school and had to go home.

"We always take him out of school when they start having trees because we don't want the other children to miss that joy because of Scott," his mother said. "But this year we were too late."

Scott has learned to accept his plight philosophically.

"I don't mind it much, except I always have to miss school right before Christmas," Scott said, gazing wistfully at a plastic white Christmas tree on the mantle—his substitute for a real one.

Even when the Christmas season passes, Scott can look forward to only a few months of normal living for when Easter approaches he has to go into hibernation again.

He's allergic to Easter eggs, too.
